EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

THE way the powers aid Greece is by giving her block-aid.

"WHITE vests are to be revived," says a fashion paper. That means washed, we presume.

JEFF DAVIS is partial to johnny-cakes and corn-dodgers. He is sort of an artful dodger himself.

THE Chicago authorities should let no guilty Anarchist escape. Hanging is too good for such murderers.

"IF any man pulls down the American flag, shoot him on the spot." Putting up the red flag is pulling down the stars and stripes.

THE venerable Judge Agnew has been selected as umpire in the arbitration between the Pittsburg street railway companies and their employes.

MISS CHAMBERLAIN is going to Europe again in June. Pretty girls are too numerous in this country for her to shine with any special luster here.

JAY GOULD'S fortune is still being fearfully imperilled. The extra telegraphing on account of the strike on his railroads yielded him $200,000 profit in eight weeks.

MRS. NEWMAN is in Washington with a scheme for the elevation of the Mormon women. There is no doubt that some of the masculine Mormons ought to be elevated—at the end of a rope.

THE order prohibiting public assemblages in Chicago during the present period of excitement has stopped the Moody meetings. All persons must stand on a footing of equality before the law.

LORD RANDOLPH CHURCHILL and Mr. Chamberlain seem at present engaged in a competitive test as to which can make the most discreditable exhibition of political spite mixed with foolishness.

IT seems strange that although the Christian religion, which teaches love and generosity, is said to be spreading, yet selfishness is the great sin of the age and the prime cause of all the present labor troubles.

CAREFUL estimates place the number of men engaged actively in the eight-hour movement at 325,000, and of these nearly half (143,000) have been conceded their demand, by far the larger proportion gaining their point without striking.

IT is reported at Washington, through several sources, that the President has reached the conclusion that the Mugwumps have had enough of his favor, and the patronage of the Administration hereafter will be conferred upon only regular Democrats.

THE opponents of the Morrison Tariff bill have decided to concentrate their strength and if possible give the measure its death-blow at the earliest practicable moment, by defeating any motion that may be made to take it up for consideration. If they succeed in doing this, it will tend to greatly shorten the session by cutting off long-winded speeches on both sides.

THE situation in a nut shell is simply this: The tariff reduction of 1883 and further reduction since threatened have produced hard times, lessened the demand for labor and reduced the price. This has caused the labor strikes. Always added to these conditions is the selfishness which leads an employer to take advantage of the employee whenever he can. Cannot the people learn a lesson from this and will not the legislators be compelled to increase the tariff?

A RECENT decision of Second Comptroller Maynard is to the effect that under the additional bounty act of July 28, 1866, every soldier that enlisted after April 14, 1861, for a period of not less than two years and was honorably discharged after serving two years for the purpose of enabling him to accept a commission, is entitled to the additional bounty of fifty dollars authorized by the thirteenth section of that act, provided he was not entitled to any greater bounty than one hundred dollars under the laws existing at the date of the passage of the act and provided his claim was filed previous to July 1, 1880.

Sensible Views of Congressmen.

There is no man in this country whose opinion on labor, finances, etc., deserve more consideration than that of Congressman Kelley. He is the senior member of Congress in continuous service and has the advantage of travel in Europe. His words on the labor troubles have the right ring. We quote them and also similar remarks by ex-Gov. Rice, of Massachusetts. Mr. Kelly said:

"These labor troubles are primarily caused by the capitalist, who, refusing to pay fair wages to American laborers, has gone abroad and brought to this country the vilest and lowest class of European laborers to take the places of men who can not and will not live the same as the ignorant and brutal creatures do. The thing to be done is to make eight hours a day's work and put in the penitentiary the capitalist who will permit his machinery to run a longer period than eight hours per diem. Then legislate to exclude from this country the class of men who are responsible for such outrages as have occurred in Chicago. I have no sympathy with anarchists, dynamiters or communists, nor have I any sympathy with capitalists who will import labor of this class rather than pay good wages to American workmen."

Mr. Rice, of Massachusetts, said: "I believe that the Government should put down with the strong arm of power every attempt at violence such as has been fomented in Chicago by those who have come from Europe and have sought to impregnate our own labor element with their Socialistic views. I have no sympathy with those who proclaim communistic principles and who talk about distribution of property; but with our own honest workmen, those who are seeing to benefit their condition, I am in perfect sympathy. I do not think that the wage-workers have exactly their share in the profits of progress in this country, and I believe they are right in attempting to secure what is equitable, yes, and justly their due. The truth is, we can not utilize all of the labor that we now have; the supply is in excess of the demand. If shorter hours are given more men will be put to work. What is the next step? The laborer must have sufficient pay to enable him to live and support his family. He gets a certain amount now for ten hours' work. Can he get along with any less sum when he works but eight hours. I think not. If he is given shorter hours of labor at the same wages he is now receiving he is then getting more of the profits of the results of the improvement that has taken place and his own condition is thereby improved."

THE question of how long a time may elapse from the death of his wife, before a man can marry again with propriety is about to come before a Philadelphia court for solution. It appears that Mr. Louis Wolf took unto himself a second partner of his joys and sorrows within five days after the demise of the first Mrs. The hasty remarriage excited the indignation of his brethren in the Rappaport lodge of the Free Sons of Israel, who thought that he was using his freedom in rather too loose a manner, and threatened him with expulsion. Mr. Wolf has therefore filed a bill in equity against the lodge, to restrain it from expelling him. He alleges that his second marriage was consummated solely out of his concern for his several small children who stood in pressing need of a stepmother. He might have given the Irishman's reason also, that his first wife was as dead as she could ever be, but he neglected this. The case will give the Philadelphia lawyers something new to argue about.

THE House Committee on Coinage and Weights and Measures has at last reported a bill which shows a clear appreciation of the needs of the situation, which is creditable to its intelligence. It provides that for six months after its passage trade dollars shall be receivable at their face value in payment of all dues to the United States, but that they shall not be again reissued, but turned into the mints and be recoined as standard dollars. It also provides that holders of trade dollars may exchange them for standard dollars. If only Congress will pass this bill at once without any fooling, it will have done one thing at least which will reflect credit upon it, and go far to redeem it from contempt.

THE battles of labor must be fought with peaceful weapons and under the broad folds of the Stars and Stripes.

It Could have been Prevented.

There has been too much leniency in this country toward foreign socialists, and the encouragement given them is now reaping its own reward in the acts of insubordination with which they have taken advantage of the labor strikes in Chicago.

A year or two ago when they were holding their meetings on Sunday in that city, uttering words of the most outrageous treason, the REPUBLICAN said that they should be arrested and compelled to keep quiet. The argument then used in regard to them was that it was best to permit them to have freedom of speech. Other countries repressed them and drove them away, but that they would really do less harm if the United States pursued a more lenient policy.

So they were permitted to have their way. The Sabbath was desecrated by them. The most incendiary sentiments were uttered and the people merely smiled. But their recent acts have worked double harm. They have shown that there are inhabitants of this country who are as ready to rise against it as those of any monarchy in Europe. But the worst harm has been done to the cause of labor. There are so many persons who associate this as part of a labor strike, when it is not so at all.

The strikers are influenced by a desire to protect their homes and firesides from wrong and injury; their cause is holy, just and sacred; and if the justice of this world is not sufficient to reach and punish those whose selfishness and greed bring about this state of affairs, certainly the unfaltering judgment of a higher power will do so.

Socialists, however, have no love for country. They are ready at all times to rise against their best friends if they can, by so doing help themselves. They should be compelled to obey law, to keep the Sabbath holy, to respect the rights of their fellow-mon.

If this had been done when the REPUBLICAN first counseled it the murderous affair in Chicago would have been averted.

THE State of Ohio is in very bad shape financially, and in danger of having her paper dishonored. The treasury is drained almost dry, there is a large deficiency, money to meet which must be borrowed, and the necessary legislation cannot be had because of the flight of the Democratic members of the Senate from the State, upon whom the whole responsibility for the existing state of things must rest. Unless the recalcitrant Senators return at once, so that the general appropriation bill and other financial measures may be perfected, Ohio's paper will go to protest within a week, and her credit receive a stab from which it will suffer for years to come. This is an enormous price to pay for the luxury of Democracy of the Cincinnati type, but the consolation remains that the people will not give them another such opportunity for at least a generation to come.

MR. JEREMIAH O'DONOVAN ROSSA, at the meeting in New York Friday night, called for the purpose of expressing sympathy with Mr. Gladstone in his Home Rule struggle, endeavored to disturb the proceedings by introducing an amendment denouncing the Premier in the resolutions. The prompt and emphatic manner in which the audience expressed its entire disapprobation of the dynamite blatherskite must have convinced him that on that occasion, in the presence of intelligent and representative Irishmen, he went just a little too far. The incident will have the good effect of showing the English people who at present scan very closely the news from America relating to the Irish question, that Irish agitators of the Rossa breed are as much detested in this country as they are in England.

THE New York Sun calls attention to the fact that so many of the members of the Grand Jury in that city are designated on the list as "gentlemen," while to the names of other persons are attached the names of the special professions or trades which they follow. It considers this wrong, as there is no class in this country which has a special right to be called gentlemen. The title "gentleman" attaches to any one whose conduct is gentlemanly. We have often thought that title extremely silly when we have seen it on the lists of Grand and Traverse jurors of Centre county. It would be as well to designate persons who have no regular occupation as "mashers" or "loafers," and the title might be given with even greater truth. Cannot a change be made in future lists?

Prepare for the Convention.

Time passes rapidly and it will not be long before the State Convention will meet. June 30 is the date. It has an important duty to perform in the nomination of the highest officers of the State, and every preparation should be made to see that the Convention performs its duty properly.

It is true that most of these preparations, such as the choice of delegates, were made months ago. Doubtless, each one of these delegates will do his duty promptly and satisfactorily.

We do not understand how anything that will happen between now and the time for the convention can prevent the nomination of Gen. Beaver for Governor. The nomination will certainly be made without more than one ballot. Indeed, we shall not be surprised if it is made unanimously, because there does not seem to be any other candidate for the nomination. All concede that Gen. Beaver deserves it, and when the nomination is made Republicans and Democrats will unite in electing him.

Many candidates have been named for the other offices and all of them are so excellent that the Convention cannot go amiss in the choice of any one of them. Three of them only we shall name as our first choice.

Auditor General—A. Wilson Norris, of Philadelphia; Secretary of Internal Affairs, Dr. Robert L. McClellan, of Chester County; Congressman-at-Large, Major Chill W. Hazzard, of Pittsburg. So far as the others are concerned, we have, at present, no preference.

WHEN the Ministers of the other Powers gave the Greek question up as a bad job and left Athens, the representative of the Czar of Russia remained at his post, saying he had no instruction to leave. With the other Ministers away, the Russian Ambassador can direct the movements of the Greeks according to the instructions of his imperial master. The Greek troops have been ordered to the front, and the order has been received with enthusiasm. The Powers have ordered their fleets to blockade the Greeks coast, and the aspect is once more decidedly warlike. Turkey is not idle either, and her army is on the march for Thessaly. If the Powers really intend to coerce Greece, and if the numerous collective notes and ultimatums amount to anything, now is the time to act. But Russia, it is said, will take no share with the other Powers in the work of coercion. France may also be expected to drop out any moment, as she usually does in cases of this kind. It will be remembered that when France and England jointly undertook the management of Egyptian affairs several years ago, when it came to active work France withdrew her fleet. In this case there is even less justice on the side of the Turk than when that country's dependency was threatened by the Egyptian rebels. If France withdraws, the other nations may follow suit, and England be left to the task of defending the unspeakable Turk.

VIRGINIA is in a decidedly bad box financially, thanks to her attempts at dishonesty in dealing with her creditors in the past. Under the recent decision by the United States Court that the State authorities must receive coupons for taxes, merchants, saloon keepers and others are buying up those long dishonored evidences of indebtedness and paying them in on taxes, so that the State treasury promises to be speedily filled with them, with no money on hand to meet current expenses. It took the Mother of Presidents a long time to learn that dishonesty is a bad policy for a State as for an individual, but it has learned the lesson thoroughly by this time.

IT is said that Prince Bismarck, on the whole, wishes his neighbors well, but he must have grimly grinned as he read the long list of Poles and Czechs and German Socialists who have been breeding riot and shedding blood in Chicago. He has been trying to get rid of them for some time past and with good reason. They are fanatical, dangerous and useless, and cut like a two-edged sword, harming employer and employed alike.

LORD TENNYSON'S reference to this nation in his poem, as "that young eagle of the West" who left the mother's nest "to forage for herself alone" is pertinently objected to as involving a mistake with regard to sex. The bald-headed bird who got the better of the British lion is a gentleman eagle and a very lively one at that.

A Valuable Man.

Secretary Manning has consented to retain his Cabinet position, despite his illness, and Assistant Secretary Fairchild is to do the work of the department. This is absolutely necessary, as Cleveland confesses his inability to get along without Manning. Mr. Manning believes that rest and a trip to Europe might benefit him, but Cleveland entreats him to stay, and the Democratic party wants Manning to remain. Cleveland is a Mugwump and Manning a Democrat, and Manning has all along constituted the only connecting link between Cleveland and his party. If Manning should go the President fears the consequences. Mr. Manning is also the best politician among them and has often given the President valuable advice. Consequently, his presence is appreciated. The President promises that the department affairs shall not trouble Manning at all if he will only remain. Mr. David Bennett Hill, Governor of New York, is feared by the President as a rival for the nomination in 1888. Manning can best out-manœuvre Hill in New York State. Therefore, Manning will stay.

THE 200 dress-makers of Buffalo who held a meeting the other night to protest against the future wife of Grover Cleveland purchasing her trousseau abroad evidently believe in the protection of home industry. Until recently it was supposed that Cleveland felt an interest in American industries, but his attitude on the Morrison bill has dispelled this. Under the influence of Carlisle and Morrison and the other Free-traders he has been impressed with the idea that it is best to buy abroad if it is cheaper, irrespective of whether American workmen and workwomen are thereby left with the alternative of less wages or no work. The sewing women of Buffalo should have added another resolution protesting against the passage of the Morrison Tariff bill, which is a direct blow at the tailors, cutters, cloak-makers and sewing women of the entire country. It means to hundreds of thousands less wages and less work, for the effect of the bill will be to transfer many of the largest ready-made clothing establishments to the other side of the Atlantic. Let the "best efforts" of the sewing women of Buffalo be directed to the defeat of this Tariff bill—it is more important than Miss Folsom's bridal outfit.

WHEN George William Curtis, the boss mugwump of them all, was elected President of the Civil Service Reform Association, a few evenings since, he took advantage of the occasion to make some remarks. He said that President Cleveland's sincerity and courage in regard to reform was unquestionable, but he could not succeed. In the first place, according to Mr. Curtis, the President could not have formed a Cabinet devoted to civil service reform because his party did not afford the material. "When he became President," said Mr. Curtis, "he was subjected to such a pressure as no other President ever experienced. The entire body of the party descended on him at once with a demand for a clean sweep of all civil offices." But Mr. Curtis admits that Mr. Cleveland, like every other President, has felt the necessity of party support, and his course, he says, "must be a compromise between his party on one hand and the interests of reform on the other, and the inevitable end of such a course is disaster."

THE Philadelphia Record says, "one gets a striking idea of the magnitude of this country from the statement of the Rev. Dr. Barrows that if the entire population of the globe, estimated at 1,400,000,000, were divided into families of five, the State of Texas alone could give each family half an acre of land to live upon." Texas contains 151,002,569 acres. If a family of five got half an acre this would support a population of 1,520,026,600 or 120,026,600 more than the estimated population of the world.

THE deliberate and long-matured murderous intent of the Anarchists is shown by the discoveries made by the police descents upon their nests. Apparatus used by them in making dynamite bombs has been seized, together with stores of muskets and ammunition. The attack upon the police was evidently not a casual ebullition of mob violence, but a carefully-planned massacre.

GENERAL NOTES.

The District Attorney of Mitchell, Neb., receives $250 per annum salary.

Maine still pays out over $3,000 a year in bounties for bears killed in the State.

The Boston postoffice yields the Government an annual net revenue of over $1,000,000.

Madison county, Ky., has within its boundaries 67 brandy and 2 whiskey distilleries.

Two diamonds have been found in Wisconsin, and now companies are organizing to dig for more.

Two residents of Webster county, Neb., have rows of lightning rods on their houses that cost $700 each.

Louisville society circles are excited over a great fight arranged for between a one-legged dog and a coon.

The British steamship Memnon, arrived at Baltimore from Rio Janeiro, Wednesday with 29,757 bags of coffee.

About 50,000 pounds of maple sugar and syrup have been shipped by freight from Woodstock, Vt, this far this season.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road carries westward from Kansas City twice per day 6,000 to 12,000 pounds of mail

Flax has been sown in eight counties of Nebraska by way of experiment, to see if it will not be more profitable than wheat.

A South Carolina judge decides that tree climbing is an inalienable right of boys, over which municipal authorities have no jurisdiction.

Six large boats, all carrying the Mexican flag, are working on the pearl fisheries off the Mexican Pacific coast. A monopoly controls the fishing ground.

Major Lamar Fontaine, of Jackson, Miss., offers to wager $1,000 that he can write 14,000 words on the blank side of a postal card so that it can be easily read with a glass.

In the Owl mountains, Wyoming, is seen at long intervals a snow or white ibex. One of the rare animals was recently killed by an old trapper and hunter known as Shoshone Jake.

A clerical statistician finds that the Society of Jesuites have had 13 Popes, 4,000 Archbishops and Bishops, and 6,000 authors. They support at the present time 2,500 missionaries.

There is a shaft in a Chicago cemetery erected by a widow over her husband's grave which cost about $150, and which the poor woman is gradually paying for out of her earnings at the wash tub.

During the month of April, 825,933½ pounds of manufactured tobacco were exported from the Second district of Virginia, against an export in the corresponding month of 1885 of 735,673 pounds.

Michael Behmer, of New Haven, this State, gray with age and afflicted with consumption, recently had his hair clipped, and now a new growth has begun; what is still more remarkable is that it is coal black.

One of the popular superstitions in the Eastern part of this State is that the first time you hear the whip poor-will in the spring by placing whatever you find under the right foot beneath your pillow your dream will come true.

Previous to the French occupation the average death rate for Panama City was 60 to 80 per 1,000 annually according to the length and irregularity of the wet season. The death rate among the employes now is 109 per 1,000 annually.

A Judge of the Superior Criminal Court, Boston, in a case last week ruled that all the furniture in a room used for gambling purposes, is subject to seizure as well as the layout actually used in playing a gambling game, and that it is forfeited.

Enterprise and push have been rarely developed by a syndicate of German merchants who have, in order to advertise their wares, fitted out a vessel for a voyage around the world, which will carry a complete assortment of the products of Germany.

Considering the threatened invasion of cholera it is announced that a German physician has discovered that small coins are important factors in the spreading of disease. He has found bacteria and vegetable fungus in scrapings from the metal.

A robin which spent a good portion of last summer pecking at its reflection in a cellar window, on a street of Peabody, Mass., is reported by a local paper to be back again and already as busy as before in its "foolish efforts to drive away its shadow."

Snake stories come in but slowly, considering the season is so far advanced. The newest is that of a snake with 12 flint rocks inside of it, some of them as large as partridge eggs, which was killed by a bridge building party last week on Yellow river, Georgia.

Sedgwick, Kas., had a small sensation in the person of a young lady dressed in male attire, who for a week stayed at one of the hotels in that burg and hunted for work among the business men. She gave Wichita as her home. Failing to obtain work she slipped away at night, leaving her board bill unpaid.

Atlanta, (Ga.,) is considerably exercised over the attempt of a cigarette manufacturer to advertise his wares by a procession through the streets of men carrying pictures of the "Greek Slave." The procession was stopped by the police, and all the judges in the city will be called upon the express their opinion of high art.

Talk of Sir Walter Raleigh, Chevalier Bayard and of the soft-toned knight of the field of the cloth of gold! There's a fellow up in Petoskey, Mich., who, being upset while sleigh-riding, lay upon the snow and said to his sure-enough girl: "Sit on me, dear, and draw your feet out of the snow." Age of chivalry dead! Go away, man.

THE TROUT-ROD ON THE WALL.

This slender rod of mine;
This delicate silk line,
And the creel;
This landing net, these flies
Of every shape and size;
With the reel.

Now hanging on the wall,
Such memories recall
Of the past;
That I live them o'er again,
And rejoice as I did when
I made a cast.

I am once more a boy—
I feel a thrill of joy
At the sight
Of the sparkling mountain brook
Where I cast the tempting hook,
Stepping light.

I can see the shady pool,
Underneath the alders cool—
Bending o'er.
Specks of foam about an eddy,
Circling round with motion steady
To the shore.

Now I see the beauty rise,
As the artificial flies
Strike the pool.
I can hear the water boil
And the crazy reel uncoil
From the spool.

Ah! he's out upon the bank!
And the specks upon his flank—
How they shine!
O! none but anglers know
Why my eyes with tears o'erflow,
As I think of days gone by
Of the rod, and reel, and fly,
And the line.

A VOYAGE.

When sleep is coy and slumbers flee,
I hasten down to the dreamland sea,
Where Fancy's boat
Doth lightly float
On the silent waters, awaiting me.

I care not where the far shores be
Of the waters that sparkle so bright and free;
I leap from the strand,
And, oar in hand,
I ride on the tide of the mystic sea,

I slip away from the cares of day,
And silently drift away, away,
Till dream clouds dense
Hide the shores of sense,
And the land and the sky and the sea grown gray

Now glides my boat into darkness deep;
Now cease my oars their rhythmic sweep;
For lull in view,
A fairy crew
Is spreading the shadowy sails of sleep.

MAILING THE LOVE-LETTER.

You may see her in the morning
Tripping lightly down the street
In her hand a sacred something
Seen where fingers fail to meet,

Over her hatless brow the ringlets
In their rude abandon play,
And she makes a lovely vision
In her morning negligee.

Grace is in her every movement,
While the smiles play hide-and-seek,
'Mid the roses Nature painted
On the whiteness of her cheek.

Now she stands before the mail box
Gently lifts the iron lid
And the secret of her wandering
Thoughts is from the curious hid.

Our Story Teller.

A SINGER'S ROMANCE.

—full, rich, powerful voice, crude as yet, and untutored, yet with the unmistakable attributes of genius, a voice which promised a glowing future.

'Sing it again, Nora—that is splendid, and the singer commenced again.

Full, swelling, passionate, until the voice died away in a trembling, wierd-like moan.

SCENE—A large, scattered workshop in the heart of the bustling, busy city. Time—Noon. Cast of Characters—Some twenty tired shop girls, seated around the stove, eating their dinner. Not a very romantic affair, and yet from that shop was to come one who should weave a romance which I know to be true.

'If I had a voice like yours, Nora, I would make it tell,' cried Maggie Hunter, a good-natured girl, who sat by the fire, contentedly munching an apple.

'If I had your voice, Nora Neale, I will tell you what I would do. I would never rest contented in this old shop, but I would make it earn my living for me. God did not give you beauty, Nora, but He did give you a splendid voice, and it is your own fault if you do not make the most of it.

'Oh, do you really think it is good enough for that, Maggie? and Nora turned her flushed face to the speaker. If I thought I should ever be a fine singer, I would work day and night for it. I would be willing to wear a calico dress all the days of my life, only to have success at last.'

'No need of your wearing calico all your life. Your voice will earn you silks, if you only have sense enough to make it,' returned her companion.

All through the long afternoon strange fancies ran through the head of Nora Neale.

The sharp click of the sewing machine kept time to the busy thoughts whirling through her brain, and as she walked home in dull November twilight, a firm resolution filled her soul.

WANTED—A young girl to wait on the door and assist the housekeeper. Apply at No. 45 Beacon street.

Nora laid the paper down. Outside the chill, drizzling November rain fell drearily, making sad, desolate music; but inside Nora's heart was full of sunshine. She knew the house well. Every morning, for over a year, she had passed it on her way to the shop, often stopping to hear the sweet melody filling the air.

How many times she had wished as she read the name of the great musician that she could go to him and cultivate the voice God had given her.

And now, not only to enter his house, but to live there. What matter if she was only the girl to wait on the door. Would she not constantly hear the glorious melody floating out on the air, and could she not gleam some knowledge from what she could overhear?

"No harm trying," said Nora, as she folded the paper carefully and went to her room.

"Yes, I think you will suit. The fact is," said the old housekeeper, "I am not so young and spry as I used to be. I find that running up stairs is almost too much for me, and when I spoke about it to Master Carl he told me to get some nice young person to wait on the door and run errands for me. Yes, dear, you look smart and trim; I think you will do." And Nora left the talkative housekeeper with a joyful heart.

A week later Nora Neale was an inmate of Carl Matzell's beautiful home.

The old housekeeper was in her room taking her customary afternoon nap. Nora had finished her work and taking some towels the housekeeper had given her to hem, she brought them into the sitting room, and sat down to the window to sew.

From the next room the voice of one of Master Carl's pupils practicing a difficult trill, came distinctly to her ear.

'Oh! If I could only hear what he tells her, then I might practice it to-night, after he goes out,' murmured Nora, and she drew the cricket softly to the door, just in time to hear him say:

"Try it again, Miss Morton. The voice should linger a trifle more on the upper tone."

Again the clear, bird like voice of the pupil rang out, until the delighted teacher clapped his hands softly, exclaiming:

"Bravo, Miss Morton, that was finely rendered."

Nora listened eagerly, until the rustling of silk warned her that the lesson was finished, and she heard the lady rise to go.

That night after Carl Matzell left the house, Nora having satisfied herself that the housekeeper was busy chatting to an old friend, stole softly to her room and commenced the lesson she had listened to that afternoon.

Days and weeks glided away, and Nora steadily practiced the lessons she stole from her unsuspecting teacher.

* * * * * *

A year had passed away since Nora had entered Carl Matzell's home. The housekeeper was out and Carl was away.

Seated before the open piano, Nora played softly an accompaniment; then her full, clear, rich tones filled the room. Trilling, like she had heard Miss Morton, then bursting forth in full, clear melody.

The door softly opened and Carl Matzell silently took the picture in. Waiting until the singer had finished, he exclaimed, very softly:

"Very well done, Nora. Very well done, my girl."

Poor Nora; a deep blush overspread her face; then suddenly she became pale as death.

"Never mind, Nora, a happy accident has revealed to me the power of your voice. It is my wish for you to commence a thorough course of instruction, for I have every reason to believe that, with proper training, you will become one of the finest vocalists I have ever heard."

Nora knelt at his feet in gratitude, and impetuously kissing his hand, hastened from the room.

"At last!" she murmured, "at last! To think I shall really become what I have always longed to be. And Mr Matzell, oh, he is so good!" and happy Nora burst into a flood of tears.

Never did Carl Matzell have a more industrious pupil than Nora, and never was the enthusiastic teacher more abundantly rewarded. Two years from the time Nora Neale entered Carl's home, as an humble maid, found her dressing for her debut.

* * * * * *

Nora's voice trembled as she glanced at the surging mass before her, but one glance at her teacher's face reassured her, and she retired amidst the wildest applause.

Nora Neale rode home that night a distinguished woman. Her appearance had been a complete success. But Nora was not perfectly happy. Foolish Nora had learned another lesson. She had learned to love her noble teacher. In vain she chided and reproached herself for her folly.

Late that evening Carl Matzell, opening the door to the music room, was surprised to see Nora sitting in the utmost abandonment; her head resting on the table, her rich robes sweeping the floor.

Sob after sob shook her frame, and Carl watched her pityingly, tenderly, while a deeper, warmer feeling crept into his heart. A new emotion thrilled him as he looked at the young girl.

That evening he had been proud of his pupil, had admired her as she stood before the delighted audience, but not until he beheld, desolate and alone, did the love, long slumbering in his breast, wake to full life.

'Nora,' he cried, softly; and Nora raised her tear stained face from the table. 'Nora, come to me,' and Nora sped to the open arms, thankful for the love and protection offered her.

Many years have passed away since Nora Neale became the wife of the noble Carl Matzell, and every year but strengthens the love they bear each other; while in the city is no happier home than that of the wealthy music teacher and his gifted wife.

The Farm Boy.

My son, do not smile derisively at the farm boy, toiling contentedly yonder by the wayside. He is not attired as trimly as you are; nay, his trousers bag at the knees and hang on him loosely by one suspender, his hat is less shapely than it was spring before last, and his boots are coarse and roomy, but some years hence you may be down at Washington begging his influence to help you get a little $1,000 postoffice.

And the farm boy may not write as prettily as you do, but in the near future his plain every day signature may draw a great deal better than your beautiful autograph, at the bank.

No, my son, the farm boy does not begin his active career under a $10 plug hat, neither does he leave his victuals untasted and fade away to a shadow because he can not have a single-barreled eye glass, but not unfrequently he goes up front in due season without a plug hat or single barreled eye glass to his back.

The farm boy is not familiar with the lap of luxury, and in his working clothes he does not resemble a fragile hot-house flower, but he is full of grit. Very likely he is not getting much more than his board and clothes for his labor just now; a silver dollar may seem almost as big as a cart wheel to him, but he is storing up experience that's better than gold—fine, all wool experience full two yards wide, experience that will pull him through places in which you may get mired in spite of your college education and highly cultured legs.

I know that you can waltz all round that uncouth farm boy, my shapely son, for he has not had much time to educate his feet so that they might not get tangled up with each other in the mad, mazy whirl; but if you don't keep your eyes open and the inside works of your head busy he will be likely to waltz so far ahead of you on the race course of success that you won't see his coat tails after the end of the first quarter.

Oh, no, the farm boy hasn't much time to read, but I do not doubt but that he uses well the little he has. He has a great deal of exercise in the open air His father is a very lively old man. He works like a barrel of new cider, and when his resonant voice is heard thundering through his ancestral halls at 4 a. m. there is a general resurrection on the premises.

At noon our merry farm boy comes in with an appetite like a sausage machine, and after he has swallowed his dinner his father invites him out under the early apple tree to turn the grindstone while he is resting his back. The energetic old farmer can always find something for the farm boy to do while he is resting his back at noon, and he generally finds it.

In the evening the tired farm boy reads his few books and papers and is thus soaking in valuable information in small but effective doses, whilst you, my beautiful son, are forgetting a large part of that valuable knowledge which cost me a very high price. Mayhap it does not seem so valuable to you because I paid for it.

But you are not such a bad boy, after all is said, and I am not finding fault with you at all. I merely suggest in a gentle sort of way that you should not smile derisively at the toiling farm boy.

Look about you, my son, among the successful men in every calling. A large majority of them were once toiling farm boys, who absorbed book knowledge out of business hours; and there are not many hours which are not business hours on the farm, my son.

The farm boy early learns the value of time. He can't help but learn that and he learns it so that he never forgets it. If he leaves the old farm to satisfy a swelling ambition, you will most likely soon find him on one of the front seats of the synagogue. And whenever you do find him my son, in the editorial chair, in the White House at Washington, in the halls of Congress, Governor of his native or adopted State, an eminent professional man, the head of some great commercial or manufacturing firm or corporation you will find him knowing the value of time and making use of the large and varied stock of priceless experience he soaked in on the old back country farm.

"You can say what you like," said an enthusiastic Democrat to a Republican neighbor, "but the President is bent on reform." "Yes," was the reply, "and his party is trying to straighten him out."

Edwin M. Stanton's Editorial.

Philadelphia News.

It must not be supposed that Secretary Stanton was always unapproachable. Now and then, when his anxiety was unusually great, it was easy to imagine more agreeable people than the War Secretary. But what terribly wearing duty was his! On one occasion—during the battles of the Wilderness—a reporter of the Chronicle, the Secretary's special favorite, had been at the department from early evening until 3 a. m. He was sure there was important news, and he was determined to get it. But not a line could he get nold of, and the Secretary declined to admit him to the inner office He sat in the little side room all alone save for his cigar and the small errand boy of the Chronicle, who was coiled up on a chair fast asleep. He knew the Secretary was in his room, and he would stay as long as the Secretary did.

It was 3 a. m. when the doors opened and Mr. Stanton walked out. The reporter at once stood before him.

"You here yet?" said Mr. Stanton.

"Yes sir," was the reply.

"My boy, I sent you word frequently that I had nothing for you I have nothing that I can give to the press Even if I did give you anything it is too late now."

"Not at all, sir. There is a youngster asleep there in the corner who will be at the Chronicle office as quick as lightning if I say the word, and all will be in readiness for me and the copy by the time I reach there. I have two carriages at the door."

"So? Well, you deserve not to be disappointed. Say the word. Start off the boy and turn up the light at the high desk there."

The boy was off in a second, and the weary, cross-grained Secretary took his position at the high desk. He wrote steadily without speaking a word for at least an hour, tearing up many sheets, and throwing them in small pieces upon the floor and making many erasures. The reporter was on pins and needles. When he was through he gave the reporter a dozen or more small pages of copy headed "The Situation." Then he said:

"Now, don't tell on me, and come let us get away from here." They walked slowly out of the department. To the reporter it seemed they went like snails. At the carriage door they said good night. Horses never before so galloped down the avenue as did those of the Chronicle man's carriage. The article on "The Situation" appeared double leaded in a second edition of the Chronicle a very brief while afterward, and was the cause of wide comment, for it carried the stamp of authority upon its face. It was telegraphed all over the country. The printers preserved their takes of the copy as mementoes, and I have no doubt they are somewhere yet retained as valuable curiosities. I think that this was the only time during Mr. Stanton's incumbency of the War Department that his handwriting was seen in the composing room of a newspaper office. The article was not published as from the Secretary of War, for the reporter kept faith.

A Woman Detective.

Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

When a woman sets deliberately to work as a detective she knocks the spots off a man almost every time. This is illustrated by the striking achievements in this line of Mrs. L. Cook, a wealthy Louisville woman, who, as she drove home one day in her carriage discovered a brutal-looking ruffian emerging from a side entrance to her premises with a well stored bag upon his shoulder. The man's whole appearance breathed the word "burglar" so plainly that Mrs. Cook whispered to her coachman to shadow him, and the equipage was turned around and followed slowly after the retreating figure. After many devious windings he was tracked to his lair, which proved to be respectable hotel. The carriage was at once driven to Police Headquarters, and two detectives, in plain clothes, accompanied Mrs. Cook back to the lair. The brutal-looking ruffian proved to be a garbage collector, and when Mrs. Cook got home she found she hadn't lost anything.

A Costume that Resembled a Fish.

Chicago Herald.

A swell fish supper was given in New York last week. The private dining room was turned into a bower of bright green, with seaweeds in profusion and quaint embellishments of shells, while borrowed pictures of pisciculture and water completed the aquatic decoration. However, it was in one of the elaborate toilets that a clever conceit was most remarkably carried out. The wearer was a pretty girl, belonging to a distinguished family. Her hair was loosened and embellished with seagrass; a necklace and bracelets were pearls and coral; the sleeveless and low cut corsage was delicate pink satin, shading off into the green of draperies fashioned in artistic simulation of a mermaid's lower half. The scaliness of a fish was imitated by means of beadwork, the skirt was narrow and a short trail was shaped like the tail of a fish.

Two Remarkable Children.

Perhaps the two most striking instances of home training that have been given to the world, writes Agnes Repplier in the Atlantic Monthly, are those of John Stuart Mill and Giacomo Leopardi, the principal difference being that while the English boy was crammed scientifically by his father, the Italian boy was permitted relentlessly to cram himself. In both cases we see the same melancholy, blighted childhood, the same cold indifference to the mother, as to one who had no part or parcel in their lives, the same joyless routine of labor; the same unboyish gravity and precocious intelligence. Mill studied Greek at 3, Latin at 8, the Organon at 11, and Adam Smith at 13 Leopardi, at 10, was well acquainted with most Latin authors, and undertook alone and unaided the study of Greek, perfecting himself in that language before he was 14. Mill's sole recreation was to walk with his father, narrating to him the substance of his last day's reading Leopardi being forbidden to go about Recanati without his tutor, acquiesced with pathetic resignation and ceased to wander outside of the garden gates. Mill had all boyish enthusiasm and healthy partnership crushed out of him by his father's pitiless logic. Leopardi's love for his country burned like a smothered flame, and added one more to the pangs that ate out his soul in silence. His was truly a wonderful intellect; and whereas the English lad was merely forced by training into a precocity foreign to his nature, and which, according to Mr. Bain, failed to produce any great amount of scholarship, the Italian boy fed on books with a resistless craving appetite, his mind growing warped and morbid as his enfeebled body sank more and more under the unwholesome strain. In the long lists of despotically reared children there is no sadder sight than this undisciplined eager, impetuous soul, burdened alike with physical and moral weakness, meeting tyranical authority with a show of insincere submission, and laying up in his lonely infancy the seeds of a sorrow which was to find expression in the keynote of his work, "Life is Only Fit to be Despised."

Honesty is the Best of Policy.

One day about three weeks ago a strange customer came to a Gratiot Avenue grocery. He wanted some goods, and paid cash down. The next day he made another purchase and paid cash, and as days went by his face and his cash became familiar. One day he returned with the change given him and said:

"I believe I am an honest man. You paid me twenty cents too much."

The grocer received it and was pleased. Two days after that the stranger returned from the curbstone to say:

"Another mistake on your part; you over paid me by forty cents."

The grocer was glad to have found an honest man, and puzzled to know how he should have counted so far out of the way. Three days more, and the stranger picked up a dollar bill in the store and said:

"This is not my dollar. I found it on the floor and you must take charge of it."

The grocer's heart melted, and he wondered if the world was not progressing backward to old-time honesty. A skip of one day and then the honest man brought down a wheelbarrow, ordered eighteen dollars' worth of groceries, and would have paid cash had he not forgotten his wallet. He would hand it in at noon as he went past, he said, and it was all right with the grocer.

That was the last of the honest man; morning fades to noon, and noon melts away in darkness, but he cometh not. There are no more mistakes in change, no more dollar bills on the floor, and the grocer's eyes wear a way-off expression, as if yearning to see some one for about two minutes.

How America Was Discovered.

In competition for a prize an English lad offered the following essay on Columbus: "Columbus was a man who could make an egg stand on end without breaking it. The King of Spain said to Columbus, 'Can you discover America?' 'Yes,' said Columbus, 'if you will give me a ship.' So he had a ship, and sailed over the sea in the direction where he thought America might be found. The sailors quarreled and said they believed there was no such place.

But after many days the pilot came to him and said, 'Columbus, I see land,' 'Then that is America,' said Columbus. When the ship got near, the land was full of black men. Columbus said, 'Is this America?' 'Yes,' they said. Then he said, 'I suppose you are the niggers?' 'Yes,' they said, 'we are.' The chief said, 'I suppose you are Columbus?' 'You are right,' said he. Then the chief turned to his men and said. 'There is no help for it; we are discovered at last.'"

All Sorts.

Firm friends—Partners.

Telephone is feminine—it talks back.

A chromo is known by the tea it sells

Drawing instrument—Mustard plasters.

A popular drama—"Ten Knights in a Bar-room."

Epitath for a cannibal: "One who loves his fellow men."

Curious transformation—When a horse is turned into a pasture.

No, Ajax, the rooster is not a spring flower, although he is a crocus.

"We meet but to part," as the brush in the dude's hand said to the comb.

Greece is like a corn—often painful, always troublesome, but never dangerous.

"This is a very painful affair," remarked the man as the sash fell on him.

We should think a shad would be pretty confident of a thing when it feels it in its bones.

If artesian well borers could begin at the bottom and bore up, fewer mistakes would be made.

Meat smoked with corn cobs will have a better flavor than other burning substance will give it.

The average Congressional statesman is looking for a tariff policy that will return him to Congress.

"So you think De Smyth is a very promising young man, do you?" 'Most certainly. In fact I know it.' "What makes you think so?" I make his clothes."

"The king can do no wrong." If a stage king is meant, we have no doubt of the truth of the above. We don't remember ever to have seen one who had sufficient energy in him for that.

A man in Monticello, Ill., placed some giant powder in a stove to blow the soot from the pipe. The neighbors all say that it is a pity he couldn't have lived long enough to see how thoroughly the soot was cleared out.

His Reputation Upheld. Father—"No, sir, it shan't be said of me that I wanted my gals to get spliced so bad that I had to go out and lasso 'em, and bring the young men in." One of the Girls—"No, father! Nobly said! Give me the lasso!"

"What do you ask for potatoes?" inquired a woman of a passing pedler. "Two thousand dollars a bushel, marm." "Gracious! But ain't that a trifle high?" "Yessum; but then you see they are peach blows." "Are they truly? Give me four bushels."

The Magic of Silence.

You have often heard, "It takes two to make a quarrel." Do you believe it? I'll tell you how one of my little friends managed. Dolly never came to see Majorie without a quarrel. Majorie tried to speak gently, but no matter how hard she tried Dolly finally made her so angry that she would soon speak angry words too.

"O, what shall I do?" cried poor Majorie.

"Suppose you try this plan," said her mama. "The next time Dolly comes in, seat yourself in front of the fire and take the tongs in your hand. Whenever a sharp word comes from Dolly, gently snap the tongs without saying a word."

Soon afterward in marched Dolly to see her little friend.

It was not a quarter of an hour before Dolly's temper was ruffled and her voice was raised, and, as usual, she began to find fault and scold. Majorie flew to the hearth and seized the tongs snapping them gently.

More angry words from Dolly.

Snap went the tongs.

More still. Snap!

"Why don't you speak?" screamed Dolly, in a fury.

Snap went the tongs.

As snap was the only answer, Dolly cried out, "I'll never come again; never!"

Away she went. Did she keep her promise? No, indeed! She came the next day, but seeing Majorie run for the tongs she solemnly said if she would only let them alone they would quarrel no more for ever and ever.

DYSPEPSIA

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

Horace Greeley said "Young man, go West." So a few young men of this place have taken the advice. On the evening of May 4th, Harry Cadwallader, Etwood Fisher, Wm. Sensar and Andy Rawan departed for Emporium, Kansas, to seek home and fortune in a strange land.

Mr. Christian Hoover departed at the same time for Minnesota, accompanied by Mrs. Jennie Parsons.

Our aged friends, A. N. Russell and wife, were very pleasantly surprised at noon on the 6th, inst., by the gathering in of about 25 of their relatives and friends to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. Upon the whole it was a very pleasant and intertaining event, of which we presume a fuller account will appear in a few days.

A. W. Homan has not been idle through these dull times, but improving his property and always looking out for work. So he obtained work at carpentering in the mines, near State College, a few days ago.

A Genuine Peach-Blow Vase.

As a single peach-blow vase is worth $18,000 it is desirable to know how to make it. The great secret of its cost is that it can be made only at a certain season in the year—the Spring. The process is really quite simple.

Take any ordinary vase. On the outside spread thickly some sticky substance such as mucilage and pluck a quantity of blossoms from the peach tree. Then delicately and carefully place the peach blossoms so they will adhere to the sticky substance with the pink blossoms out. The result, when sufficiently hardened, will be a genuine peach-blow vase.

Jay Gould's Sensible Daughter.

Miss Gould has lately been given an allowance of $5 000 a year for her wardrobe, but last year did not spend over two-thirds of that amount. She is very fond of pretty dresses, made in a simple girlish fashion, and has fewer silk or satin gowns than one would suppose. In summer she dresses in white most of the time, wearing linen and flannels in the morning, mulls and embroidered dresses in the afternoon, and on special occasions white silk or lace. A dress made entirely of Valenciennes lace over surah silk is the favorite, and although very simple looking cost the neat sum of $580. A brown corduroy, trimmed with silver fox fur, with a cap and muff to match, was her favorite walking suit last winter, and on Sundays she wore a dark blue velvet, with beaver trimmings. She is fond of bronze shoes and always keeps four or five pairs on hand, and always dresses her own hair, which is long, dark and naturally curly.—Ex.

Gifts of Poison.

It is time that respectable merchants combined with consumers for the suppression of all gift, prize and lottery schemes in connection with the sale of articles of merchandise. These schemes are not only demoralizing to legitimate business and to the morals of the community, but in the extent in which they are being carried in the sale of articles of food have become a source of great danger to the pubic health. They are, no matter in what form they appear, nothing more or less than devices to swindle honest and unsuspecting people.

It is gratifying to learn that in some instances the officers of the law have taken hold of the matter. In New York, and also in Chicago, parties who in this way offered gifts to purchasers of their packages have recently been arrested upon indictments for lottery swindling. The latest candidates, both for public execration and criminal prosecution, are the manufacturers of the alum baking powders, who are both by means of gifts and lottery tickets, disposing of large quantities of their corrosively poisonous compounds, which are so well known to be detrimental to health that no housekeeper will admit them to her kitchen, knowingly. This form of swindle is not only being peddled from house to house, but under the promise of large profits to be realized, the manufacturers are entrenching themselves behind the counters of many grocers by getting them to offer the alum goods with the gifts or lottery tickets attached, thereby shifting the liability to prosecution, in part, upon others and, perhaps, innocent parties. Every grocer or dealer, for instance, who sells or offers for sale any of the prize or lottery baking powders is a criminal in the eye of the law, and liable, upon conviction, to fine and imprisonment, while those who sell the gift goods are, morally, as responsible, for they are offering an inducement, or prize, to housekeepers to use a food that contains a corrosive poison. This is a predicament in which it is not possible our grocers will care to place themselves when they come to think seriously of the matter.

It must be borne in mind that every one of these gift or prize baking powders, are alum baking powders. These powders cost less than four cents a pound to produce; the gift or prize costs but a few cents more. They are sold at the price of a first-class baking powder, so that the swindle, in a commercial sense, is enormous. But the chief iniquity of the business consists in selling, as presumably wholesome, an article of a positively injurious character, and by means of gifts or bribes inducing servants or unsuspecting housekeepers to purchase and use it in our daily food.

There should be some prompt method of reaching these dangerous practices and punishing the parties engaged in their promotion. If the present laws are not ample, we commend the matter to the consideration of our State Board of Health for recommendation of such additional legislation as shall be effective for the protection of the public.

A Loss to Literature.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Mr. Abram S Hewitt reached this city to-day from Washington, to examine in person the damage done to his library by the fire in his house afternoon. Until his arrival the origin of the fire had been inexplicable. Mr Hewitt discovered that a tinsmith at work on his roof had set his portable furnace on t p of the chimney containing the library flue. He suspects that a live coal dropped from the furnace down the flue and caused the fire.

"All my literary work for the last 12 years was in the library," said Mr. Hewitt, "and all was destroyed. There was a great deal of correspondence relative to the campaign of 1876, which has all been lost. My library on political economy was a good one, and it is all gone. Many of the books are unobtainable nowadays. There were many French and Spanish books in the collection, and many early books on the subject. There are a few in Washington and some at my country house, which I had bought as I needed. I kept the books all together, intending to give them to the Cooper Institute as a special library.

"I had kept the notes made in preparing all my speeches," continued Mr. Hewitt. "Some of them took me three months and more to prepare. These notes are all gone, and with them all chances of the future appearance of "The Speeches of Abram S. Hewitt.'"

Gould's Latest Move.

ST LOUIS, May 8.—Jay Gould to day further perfected his title to the ownership of this city by making a favorable offer for the entire terminal facilities not now under his control. Captain S C. Club, President of the Wiggins Ferry Company, was recently adjudged insane, and the affairs of the company are in an unsettled state Through Peter L. Foy, one of the largest stockholders, Mr Gould made a written offer to lease the property, guaranteeing 12 per cent. on the capital of $1 000,000 invested. The leases carries with it the Madison Ferry Company, the Venice and Carondelet Belt Railway, the East St. Louis Belt Railway and the St Louis Transfer Railway. He now controls the Bridge and Tunnel Company, the Union Depot Company and all Missouri Pacific terminal facilities

The Wiggins Ferry Company has been the only Gould rival in St. Louis, and if he gobbles that the city is at his mercy, and he will have complete control of all terminal facilities on both sides of the river.

Ohio's Fugitive Democratic Senators.

CHATTANOOGA, May 7.—Fourteen of the twenty democratic members of the Ohio state senate arrived in this city today in a special car and are occupying the car which now stands in the Cincinnati Southern railway yard. They left Columbus, Ohio, secretly Tuesday night, and met at Covington, Ky., where they took the car for Chattanooga. They left the state of Ohio in order to get beyond the jurisdiction of any process that might be issued to the sergeant-at arms of the senate

They state that they are merely standing by their constitutional rights and have no intention or disposition to obstruct legislation, that the important measures disposed of, and they now leave the senate to preserve the constitution of their state and defeat the plans of scheming politicians. They are firm in their determination not to yield an inch and will remain until a compromise is effected.

Shenandoah's Sad Plight.

SHENANDOAH, May 7.—This borough, with a population of thirteen thousand, is absolutely without local government and promises to remain so for an indefinite time. Two months ago the borough council, seven Democrats and seven Republicans, met for organization but failed to agree and have failed in all subsequent attempts in that direction. In the meantime, the chief burgess who is the only legal executive officers of the borough, has gone west on a business trip and left the borough to take care of itself. The time to issue the tax duplicates is approaching, the treasury is depleted, the police have been paid no salaries for nearly three months and the streets are in a bad condition. The citizens are talking of taking matters in their own hands and forcing the fourteen councilmen to resign, so that a special election may be held and a new council elected.

All Quiet.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The day has been one of marked quiet throughout the entire city, no processions occurring and the police were not even called upon to desperse any large assemblages. The situation in the lumber district, which has been the scene of many disorders during the week, was such as not to require the dispatching of a single patrol wagon to quell a disturbance during the day. Officers Flanin and Sheehan have died from their injuries. Kruger, the socialist, shot by Officer Madling, died this morning and Frank Lannis, a member of the rioting communists, during the afternoon. No work was attempted at any of the railway freight houses.

The freighthandlers at a meeting today appointed a committee to negotiate for the most favorable settlement of strike possible. It is believed all will return to work to-morrow.

A Monster Petition.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Representative Morrow has received a monster petition from the Knights of Labor of California. It is over two thousand feet long and contains the names of over fifty thousand persons. It prays for action on the part of congress to forever prohibit the further immigration of Chinese to the United States.

Sunk in the River.

PITTSBURGH, May 9.—This morning thirty thousand dollars worth of property in coal barges was sunk in the Monongahela river between dam No. 1 and Point Bridge. Wrecks, however, are strewn along both the Monongahela and Ohio rivers for several miles.

The cause of the disaster was a sudden and rapid rise in the river. The coal men were looking for high water but it came sooner than they expected. At 5.30 o'clock this morning a full flat, which had broken from its moorings somewhere up the river, came drifting rapidly down the swiftly running stream, which was rising at the rate of six inches an hour. Just below the dam it struck a fleet of twelve barges belonging to the Marmet coal company, of Cincinnati. The force of the shock was so great that the lines were parted and the entire tow started down the river.

Before the runaways had gone far they encountered twenty barges belonging to O'Neill & Co., and farther down three barges of the Birmingham coal company and one each of Brown & Sons and Sneather & Wilson. The steamboats Alarm, Fred Wilson and Dippal started in pursuit, but they only saved seven barges. The other twenty-seven were sunk and their contents strewn along the river. No further damage occurred. The losses are as follows: Marmet company, $13.000; O'Neill & Co., nine barges sunk, six barges damaged, $12,000; Birmingham company, three barges sunk, $2.500; W. H. Brown, one barge, $1.000; Sneather & Wilson, one barge, $1.000. There are 5,000,000 bushels of coal now waiting shipment and a great portion will go down the river within the next forty-eight hours.

All Quiet in Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 10.—All the railways in the city resumed operations this morning, and are accepting and caring for all freight offered without limit. The situation, however, as affecting the freight handlers is still unsettled, and has developed unexpected phases. The Baltimore and Ohio set its men at work this morning, conceding them an eight hour working day, with nine hours' pay. The freight-handlers of this road have not been acting in concert with other city freight-handlers, and gain their victory by independent negotiations with the company. It is not known what effect this concession will have upon the other roads. A committee of the striking freight-handlers of the Chicago and Northwestern road called up the officials this morning and expressed a desire to return to work on the old basis. The company replied that the men had been given full notice to return to work, but had failed to do so. As a consequence the company had its business seriously interfered with, and had been at trouble and expense in procuring new men. These men filled the entire working quota of the company, and it had no place to offer the men who had gone out on the strike.

The ultimatum issued Saturday by the manufacturers of metal goods, in which they distinctly said they could not grant the eight hour day, made the situation in this line of manufacture one of interest this morning. The chief point was the factory of Cramer Bros., which gives employment to twelve hundred men, it being thought that if these men accepted the situation and went to work at ten hours' pay for ten hours' work their action would have great weight on the men on strike at other factories.

Before 7 o'clock this morning there was quite a crowd in the vicinity of the works, but there was not the least symptom of disorder. In the pipe mill two hundred men went to work and in the general shops two hundred started in. The Chicago Malleable iron works started up in full blast this morning, two hundred men being employed at nine hours' pay for eight hours' work. The Adams & Westlake employes, as well as those of the Union brass company, did not return up to 8 a. m.

The excitement over labor troubles this morning was principally confined to the lumber district. In that section great crowds assembled at an early hour to see whether any of the old hands in the planing mills would return to work. Along Blue Island avenue and Twenty second street the sidewalks were lined with men, and a heavy patrol of policemen were on hand to quell any disturbance.

The only mill to start up was that of P. Wohler & Co. Here eighty men went to work at eight hours with nine hours' pay. Thomas R Lyon put some of his teamsters to work but, as they are employed by the month, the circumstance did not attract much attention. Later in the morning all the sash, door and blind factories in the district started up. About 1,500 men went to work. They will get nine hours pay for eight hours' work. The planing mill men said they would start up, but could not, as they are dependent on lumber yards for material.

A committee of the striking freight handlers called on Agent Bell, of the Fort Wayne road, this morning to effect a settlement. They intimated to him that all the old men must be taken back or none would go to work. He answered the committee with a refusal to agree to such terms, and said that he would discharge none of the imported men who wished to stay. A canvass among the new men showed that a good many of them wished to return home. They will be furnished with transportation and the old hands taken in their places if they wish to work.

Calling Gladstone a Traitor.

LONDON, May 8.—The Sheffield Telegraph says that General Wolsely considers Mr. Gladstone a traitor and refuses to have any social intercourse whatsoever with him. The General will not even sit at the same table with Mr. Gladstone. It is also declared that English military circles support Lord Wolsely's views on Irish affairs.

The Dublin Express (Conservative), commenting on the alleged Wolsely threat, says that one result of the passage of the home rule bill would be to clear the army in 24 hours of some of its best officers, "who," adds the paper, "would not go alone to Ulster." It also declares that military stategists are already studying Irish maps and Ulster history.

Briefs.

ATHENS, Ohio, May 7—A. W. S. Minar, a druggist and ex-county auditor, was shot and killed Wednesday night by C. Carr, a young man employed by Mr. Minar. Mr. Minar had returned home late, unexpectedly, and while trying to get into the house was mistaken by Carr for a burglar and fired upon with a shotgun.

PITTSBURG, May 7.—The Imperial coal company's miners at Imperial, Pa., struck to-day for an increase of five cents per ton for mining. About two hundred men are idle. An extensive strike of miners is also in progress along the Allegheny river. Not more than a dozen diggers are at work. The men struck against a reduction.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Lieutenant Henry J. Hunt, United States Navy, a member of the Jeannette and Greely relief expeditions, in the latter of which he contracted consumption, of which he died on Thursday last, was buried today in the soldiers' cemetery attached to the Soldiers' Home.

MONTGOMERY, May 8.—The second day's session of the Southern Baptist Convention shows and increased attendance. This morning a report was adopted providing for raising $10,000 to be expended in evangelizing the colored race in the South.

JERSEY CITY, May 8.—Joseph Velling was arrested at the Red Star steamship dock this morning upon a dispatch from Chief of Police of Newark, O. The dispatch stated that Velling was wanted for felony.

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.—The Democrats of the Second Congressional district have nominated H. C. Beard The vacancy was caused by the death of Mr. Michael Hahn.

HOBOKEN, May 9.—John Hagg, the man arrested last night on suspicion of being the burglar who shot George A. Coe in Englewood last Wednesday night, was this morning brought before Recorder McDonough, but at his request the recorder adjourned the hearing. While the prisoner's wounds were being dressed Louis Coe, a brother of the wounded man, arrived at the station and when brought into the presence of the prisoner young Coe at once identified him. Hagg protested his innocence and said that he had been in Shady Side all Thursday and Friday and denied all knowledge of the shooting. He was taken to Englewood To-morrow he will be brought before the wounded man.

ST. LOUIS, May 9.—A special says: General Master Workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, acting under the authority vested in him by the general executive board, has issued a call to the various assemblies of the order for a special session of the general assembly to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, Tuesday, May 25th.

HULL, Que., May 9.—A fire originated this morning in Alderman Landry's bakery and, spreading rapidly, soon destroyed all the houses on Lake and Duke streets, and on Main street as far as Poolin's stone block, at the corner of Main and Slide streets, where it was checked. The area covered by the fire is about ten acres. A hundred and fifty families are burnt out. The new postoffice was the only public building destroyed. Loss, $350,000.

As Viewed in Germany.

BERLIN, May 9.—The meagre reports of the Chicago riots which have filtered into the German papers have made a great sensation among the socialists. Herr Liebknecht intends to visit America shortly to stump the country. Herr Bebel, the socialist leader, was to have accompanied him, but he thought better of it.

The Kolnische Zeitung, in discussing the riots, says: "The bona fide laboring men and the American socialists, who would attain their ends peaceably, are not to be confounded with the anarchists."

The Berliner Tageblatt remarks: "It would have been well for the Americans if they had discovered the necessity of moving energetically against Herr Most and the other dynamite heroes a little earlier. It is not so long since it was the fashion on the other side of the Atlantic to ridicule the socialistic disturbances in the Old World."

The Frankfurter Zeitung says: "Like the previous outbreaks in Pittsburg and Cincinnati, the riots at Chicago and Milwaukee have only a local importance. Clearly the professional anarchists care little about the efforts of the workingmen to better their condition. With a great mass of the men now on strike these rowdies have nothing in common."

Mr. Powderly Interviewed.

SCRANTON, May 11.—Mr. Powderly is considerably annoyed by the publication of his secret circular. He said to a reported to-day that the circular was genuine and was correct except in one instance, where the types made him say, In the hands of men entirely mouth the gun is as harmless as the sword." What he did say was, "In the hands of a man entirely mouth the gun is as harmless as his word." Mr. Powderly said in all parts of the country resolutions had been adopted denouncing the actions of the men who disgraced the streets of Chicago. When asked if the next general assembly was likely to take cognizance of the Chicago disturbance he said: "Probably not directly, but some legislation is likely to be adopted for the speedy expulsion from the order of men who would advocate or uphold such lawless methods as those of the anarchists."

Instructed for Beaver.

Special to the Altoona Tribune.

CLEARFIELD, Pa, May 11.—A large and enthusiastic republican convention was held in the arbitration room of the court house this evening, with Cyrus Gordon as chairman; Frank Patton and C. W. Van Dusen as secretaries. F. G. Harris, Esq., of Clearfield, was elected representative delegate, and C. K. McDonald, W. Irvin Shaw and H. L. Caldwell, senatorial conferees. The instructions were for General Beaver for governor, and Montooth for lieutenant governor.

Voting for a Bishop.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—In the Episcopal convention this afternoon a vote was taken for assistant bishop. Rev. Philips Brooks, of Trinity church, Boston, and Rev. T. F. Davies, of St Peter's church, Philadelphia, received 65 votes, the former receiving the vote of the low churchmen and the latter that of the high churchmen. The convention adjourned until to-morrow.

Out of Work.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—At a meeting to-night of Knights of Labor assemblies, composed entirely of garment cutters, it was decided that all cutters in the employ of wholesale houses should go out on a strike Monday for eight hours' work with 10 hours' pay. The wholesale houses employ some 600 cutters, and the withdrawal of these men from the different shops on Monday will throw out of employment between 7,000 and 8,000 persons. The cutters in the employ of retail clothiers will continue at work pending a conference between their employers and the Garment Cutters' Arbitration Committee.

Save an Immense Sum.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—John S. Williams, third auditor of the treasury department, has submitted his report to the acting secretary of the treasury of the operations of his office from April 30, 1885, to May 1, 1886, it being the first official year of his service. It shows that there has been a saving of $14.446 during the year for compensation to clerks, and he estimates that $28,200 can be saved during the next fiscal year in a reduction of the clerical force.

Of Interest to Ladies.

The new treatment for ladies' diseases discovered by Dr. Mary A. Gregg, the distinguished English Physician and nurse, which has revolutionized the entire mode of treating these complaints in England, is now being introduced into the U. S., under a fair and novel plan.

Sufficient of this remedy for one month's trial treatment is sent free to every lady who is suffering from any disease common to the sex who sends her address and 13 2ct stamps for expenses, charges, etc.

It is a positive cure for any form of female diseases and the free trial package is many times sufficient to effect a permanent cure. Full directions accompany the package (which is put up in a plain wrapper) also price list for future reference. No trial packages will be sent after Aug. 1st, 1886. Address, GREGG REMEDY COMPANY, PALMYRA, N. Y. m13

—One of the recently appointed attaches of the Williamsport post-office has left his position because he refuses to work on Sunday. This is quite right and he is to be honored for his adherence to principle. There is no excuse for keeping postoffices open on Sunday. To keep them open an hour after the arrival of the last mail on Saturday night would answer every purpose.

What Baking Powder Shall We Use?

This plain question comes home to every housekeeper. We all desire pure and wholesome food, and this cannot be had with the use of impure or poisonous baking powder. There can be no longer a question that all the cheaper, lower grade of baking powders contain either alum, lime or phosphatic acid. As loth as we may be to admit so much against what may have been some of our household gods, there can be no gainsaying the unanimous testimony of the official chemists. Indeed, analysts seem to find no baking powder entirely free from some one of these objectionable ingredients except the Royal, and that they report as chemically pure. We find some of the baking powders advertised as pure, to contain, under the tests of Profs. Chandler, Habirshaw and others, nearly twelve per cent. of lime, while others are made from alum with no cream of tartar. This, we presume, accounts for their lack of leavening power as sometimes complained of by the cook, and for the bitter taste found in the biscuits so frequently complained of by ourselves.

But aside from the inferiority of the work done by these powders, the physiologists assure us that lime and alum taken into the system in such quantities as this are injurious. They are not decomposed by heat nor dissolved in mixing or baking. They go with the bread, therefore, into the stomach, where their physiological effects are indigestion, dyspepsia, or worse evils.

The question naturally arises, why do these cheap baking powder makers use these things? Alum is three cents a pound, lime still cheaper, while cream of tartar costs thirty-five or forty. The reasons for the chemical purity of the Royal Baking Powder were recently given in the New York Times in an interesting description of a new method for refining argols, or crude cream of tartar. It seems that it is only under this process that cream of tartar can be freed from the lime natural to it and rendered chemically pure; that the patents and plant of this cost the Royal Baking Powder Company about half a million dollars, and that they maintain exclusive control of the rights.

Prof. McMurtrie, late chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., in the interests of commerce, made an examination of this process, and reported upon the results attained in the refined cream of tartar. The following extract from his report would seem to answer the question repeated at the head of this article, and which is so frequently propounded by the housekeeper:

"I have examined the cream of tartar used by the Royal Baking Powder Company in the manufacture of their baking powder, and find it to be perfectly pure, and free from lime in any form. The chemical tests to which I have submitted the Royal Baking Powder prove it perfectly healthful, and free from every deleterious substance."

—The following item is from the Tyrone correspondent of the Altoona Times: "W. McKinney, agent at Port Matilda, on the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad, died on last Sunday. Some time ago he had a stroke of paralysis, from which he never fully recovered, although able to be about. Some two weeks ago he took his bed and sank rapidly, passing away as above stated."

—Ed Butts wants to know how old he will be on his 25th birthday. We would say that, strictly speaking, there is no such thing as more than one birthday—the day when one is born. But if such a term be admissible then he will be only 24 years old on his 25th brithday. On the 25th anniversary, celebration or commemoration of his birth he will be 25 years old.

Protection from Malaria.

The preventive is the far-famed Southern remedy, Simmons Liver Regulator, a purely vegetable tonic, cathartic and alterative. It acts more promptly in curing all forms of malarial diseases than calomel or quinine, without any of the injurious consequences which follow their use. Take the Regulator and it will keep your liver, bowels and kidneys in perfect order, and you will never have an experimental knowledge of the meaning of the word malaria.

—A brilliant rainbow was visible between 6 and 7 o'clock Monday evening. Its colors were entirely too utter for anything, and the hue of the peach blow vase sinks into insignificance in comparison.

Death of George T. Crosthwaite.

Quite unexpectedly, the news came Tuesday evening announcing the death of Mr. George T. Crosthwaite, at his home in Williamsport, Pa.

Deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Crosthwaite, of this place. He had, until a few months ago, been employed in Sunbury as a telegraph operator. There he contracted consumption and came to his home in Bellefonte where he greatly improved. During the recent visit of Superintendent Rhoades, in this place, that gentleman called on George and told him to come to Williamsport when he was sufficiently recovered where a position much better suited to his strength awaited him. About a week ago he, with his wife and little boy and his wife's mother went there and located.

A letter received from Mrs. Crosthwaite spoke encouragingly of George's health, therefore the shock occasioned by the announcement of his death was very great.

He was 30 years of age. He was well known as an intelligent, industrious young man, always held in high favor by his employers.

He will be buried in Union cemetery in this place, but until further intelligence is received we cannot state positively when the remains will arrive.

P. S.—Since writing the above we learn that his remains will be brought here on the 5.20 train this [Thursday] afternoon and taken to the M. E. church, where funeral services will be held.

Memorial Day at Howard.

Howard Post, G. A. R., invites all comrades of the late rebellion, of this vicinity, to join with them in performing the rites and ceremonies pertaining to their fallen comrades on Memorial Day. The Post and comrades, will leave Howard at 9 o'clock a. m., sharp, for Jacksonville, where memorial services will commence at 9½ o'clock a. m. Rev. H. W. Gross will deliver the principal oration.

Memorial services at the cemetery in Howard will commence at 2½ o'clock p. m. Rev. Owen Hicks, of Duncansville, will deliver the principal oration. The Sunday schools of Howard and vicinity have been invited to participate in these sacred and patriotic rites.

The people and children of Howard and vicinity are invited to help furnish the flowers for Decoration ceremonies. They can leave them at the Post room on Friday previous in charge of Miss Clara Kline, who has kindly consented to take charge of the floral services.

Memorial Dinner at Howard.

The patriotic ladies of Howard township and Howard borough will furnish a free dinner to the surviving soldiers of the late rebellion, at Howard on Memorial Day, to which all honorably discharged soldiers are invited. The table will be spread at 12 o'clock m. in the school house enclosure.

All patriotic persons are hereby publicly invited to furnish a basket of provision for the occasion which can be left in charge of the following persons, (at their homes previous to the day or on the grounds during the morning of Decoration Day,) who compose part of the committee of arrangements: Misses Maggie Smith, Amy Kline, Mary Wister, Bertie Long, Lula Hensyl and Kate Yearick.

The Destruction of Gingerich's Mill.

The origin of the fire which destroyed the flouring mill owned by Mr. David C. Gingerich, at Oak Hall, at 3 o'clock on Monday morning, was quite certainly incendiary. The fire started on the north side of the building, from the outside. There had been no fire in the building during the previous day (Sunday) When discovered the flames had got beyond control and they could not be successfully fought with the limited appliances at hand. The fact that the surrounding roofs were damp alone prevented the fire spreading and proving more destructive. We learn that the insurance was $3,000 on the building, $7,000 on machinery and $1,000 on grain. Mr. Samuel Weaver, the miller, also lost grain and other stock which was not insured. Tramps were seen in that vicinity by persons who were going home from church on Sunday night.

The "Boy Orator."

Mr. D. H. Burwell, who is known as the "boy orator," will hold meetings throughout this county beginning about the 16th instant and continuing until the 31st. During the last week of that time his meetings will be in the Skating Rink in this place. A gentleman who is a fine vocalist accompanies him. When he was in Oil City, this State, he was greeted by very large and delighted audiences The Derrick, of Oil City, says of him:

"After prayer by Rev. Fradenburgh, Mr. D. H. Burwell, the speaker of the evening, was introduced to the audience by Miss Fannie McClintock. The lecturer held the attention of his audience for over half an hour with one of the finest oratorical and elocutionary addresses that has been made here this season on the subject. The grace of diction, fluency and style of delivery possessed by the "young orator" are really wonderful. Those who attend will enjoy a rich treat."

Resolutions of Sympathy.

WHEREAS, our brother S. D. Gray, on account of illness, is unable to be with us, Therefore be it,

Resolved, First,—That the Quarterly Conference of the M. E. Church of Bellefonte station, held this 10th day of May A. D. 1886, express to Brother Gray their deepest sympathy in this hour of his severe affliction.

Second:—That we commend brother Gray to the tender mercies of Almighty God, and assure him that "Earth has no sorrow that Heaven cannot cure"

Third:—That it is the hope and prayer of this body and the church which it represents that our Brother may be speedily restored to health and be again permitted to meet with us.

Fourth:—That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Brother Gray by the secretary.

Tribute of Respect.

HOWARD, Pa., May 8, 1886.

Head Quarters Grove Brothers Post, No. 262, G. A. R.

WHEREAS, Death has removed from our ranks Comrades James Poorman and Irvin Haines, be it

Resolved, That in their final "muster out" this Post has lost two worthy members and the community two good citizens, and as a token of respect the Post room be draped in mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That we tender to their bereaved families our tenderest regard in their afflictions and commend them to the kindly care of those for whom their husbands and their fathers risked their lives on fields of carnage that the blessings of Liberty now enjoyed might be saved and perpetuated.

Flower Thieves.

Great complaint is made by many ladies in our town who cultivate rare and beautiful flowering plants for the enjoyment not only of themselves but for all passers by, that their plants are dug up and stolen in the night time. Certain females have for some time been suspected and detectives have at last been employed to trace up the flowers and the thieves. The flowers are well known by those who cultivate them and we expect soon to record some very disgraceful developments.

—On the 1st of this month, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bible, of Philadelphia, celebrated the 61st anniversary of their wedding at their summer home in Sea Isle City, New Jersey. They always celebrate these anniversaries. their relatives—children and grand children to the fourth generation—assembling in large numbers to render the occasion more pleasant. On this occasion only a few were present, but the event was very delightful. The aged couple are remarkable. Both of them are past their eightieth year and they enjoy almost perfect health. Their life is peaceful and quiet and their old age is indeed a green one, retaining their youthful feelings and joys. Those who were present and those who were compelled to be absent unite in wishing them a continuance of the happy old age which renders them such a beautiful and inspiring example for the imitation of those who come after them.

—Several peculiar looking men accompanied by two bears traveled along Allegheny street at noon Tuesday. The men are foreigners, probably Turks, and just about as rough in appearance as it is possible for human beings to be. The bears frightened some of the blooded horses driven by our citizens and proved themselves to be a nuisance. Following them, though separated some distance, were ragged, dirty women and children, accompanied by mules, and having with them several small babies and other property safely secured in bags.

—News came on Thursday announcing the sudden death of Mr. Robert Smith, in Tyrone at 9 o'clock a. m. that day. He was a brother-in-law of Miss Mattern, of the Bellefonte Telephone Exchange. She departed on the 10.35 train for Tyrone. It was at first feared that he had met his death by an accident on the railroad, but the later report says that he fell suddenly to the floor while sitting in an engine, from where he was carried into the round house and there died. He had served as an engineer on the railroad and was well known among railroad men.

—The large school building is too small to hold the closing exercises in with any degree of satisfaction. Why not apply for the court house? The President of the School Board could doubtless prevail upon the commissioners to grant it.

—If you attend the mock trial in Y. M. C. A. hall, this (Thursday) night, you will be royally entertained. Francis Speer, C. E. Shaffer and several of the other legal lights are concerned in the case to be tried.

—Mr. George B. Campbell, a former citizen of Bellefonte and now a resident of Donegal, Westmoreland county, Pa., is at present visiting here. He went to Lemont at 1 p. m. yesterday.

GLADSTONE'S enemies are making silly shows of themselves by their threats of rebellion in case the Home Rule bill passes. The Dublin Express, an organ of the English official colony, says that some of the best army officers would leave for Ulster in twenty-four hours after the passage of the bill, and says that "military strategists are already studying Irish maps and Ulster history." The intimation is that Protestant Ulster would secede and set up for himself. The absurdity of the threat becomes manifest in view of the fact that an Ulster Parliament, elected upon the present suffrage, would be very likely be Nationalist in its political complexion. Gladstone's opponents seem to be gnashing their teeth in the last ditch.

THE great social event of the present week in Washington, will be the Kirmes to be given at the National Theatre on Thursday and Saturday evenings. The dances of the various Nations will be given in costume by society maidens, who have been thinking of nothing else for at least two months. Preparations for the affair are on a scale of magnificence never before attempted in Washington, and as it is for a charitable object, seats have sold readily at at enormous prices. The President, W. W. Corcoran, Mrs. Whitney, the wife of the Secretary, and others have taken boxes for the two nights, at $200 apiece.

A NUMBER of Philadelphians who have taken upon themselves the good work of raising the necessary money to perpetuate the name and fame of the late General George B. McClellan by the erection of a suitable monument to his memory met last week, and after some discussion, during which it was contended that the present was not a favorable time, owing to the lateness of the season, to press the object of the gathering, it was decided to postpone all further active efforts until the first Tuesday in September.

THERE is one thing which must make Gladstone feel very bad and that is the fact that Gen. Wolseley refuses to have any social relations with him. Wolseley is such a great man, you know, that it is really awful to be snubbed by him, especially when the person snubbed is such a little man as Gladstone.

THE New York Sun suggests a tax of $300 on every immigrant. That certainly would have the effect of keeping out vagrants and paupers. If an immigrant doesn't value the privileges of this country $300 worth and hasn't the money to pay it, is he a desirable person, anyhow?

—Mrs Gormanly, of Renovo, sister of Mr. Curry, of Logan street, this place, died on Tuesday, and her remains will be brought here for interment. She was quite an aged lady.

—The W. C. T. U. will meet during the Summer every Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Y. M. C. A. hall. A large attendance is desired at the meeting this afternoon.

—Dr. J. W. Rhone departed on Wednesday for Lock Haven to attend the meeting of the West Susquehanna Dental Association.

PURE IS THE ABSOLUTE NECESSITY OF HEALTH. BLOOD

THE marvellous results of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA upon all humors and low conditions of the blood (as proven by the cures effected) prove it the best BLOOD MEDICINE. Such has been the success of this article at home that nearly every family in whole neighborhoods have been taking it at the same time. It eradicates scrofula, vitalizes and enriches the blood, thereby restoring and renovating the whole system. Hood's SARSAPARILLA purifies the blood. Hood's SARSAPARILLA cures dyspepsia. Hood's SARSAPARILLA cures biliousness. A peculiar point in Hood's SARSAPARILLA is that it builds up and strengthens the system, while it eradicates disease, and as nature's great assistant proves itself invaluable as a protection from diseases that originate in changes of the seasons, of climate and of life.

At Milwaukee and Bay View.

MILWAUKEE, May 5.—Latest reports from Bay View show a very serious condition of affairs. A crowd of rioters commenced to form at 8:30, and moved towards the North Chicago rolling mills. Six military companies were marched out of the grounds and stationed in front of the works, and as the crowd approached, paying no attention to the orders to halt, the dread word "Fire" was given and a volley of bullets was poured into the crowd. The rioters beat a hasty retreat, when it was learned that five lives had been sacrificed, and several persons wounded. One of the killed was a school boy, who had his school books under his arm when he fell.

While the trouble was going on at Bay View, a large crowd of socialists and strikers assembled at Milwaukee garden, west side, and were preparing to carry out a programme of riot and destruction. A platoon of sixty policemen and three infantry companies were dispatched there and cleared the premises. The mob then reassembled and proceeded to Best's brewery, and word has just been received at military headquarters that a disturbance took place there, in which it became necessary to resort to firing, and two persons were killed. The city is in a state of excitement equaled at no time since the present trouble commenced.

The list of killed and wounded at Bay View is as follows: Franz Kunkiel, yard foreman at the rolling mills shot through the heart and instantly killed; Michael Ruhalski, living on Garden street, shot in the right breast, and died in a few minutes; he was 30 years of age. Martin Jackoyer, living on Eighth avenue, shot in the breast, fatally wounded; a boy 14 years old, named Nowacecks, living on Third avenue, very dangerously wounded in the abdomen; Casimer Puek, received two balls in the left arm and two in the left cheek. His condition is serious; he came to the city yesterday from Seymour. Albert Uktmann, No. 676 Windlake avenue, bullet in right leg, dangerously wounded.

Two or three others whose names are not reported were wounded, but not seriously. The firing of the militia and the fatal result dispersed the mob, in greater part. The rioters, or those of Polish nationality, at least, returned to the city, south side, and proceeded to seek the residence of Captain Borchardt, of the Kosciousko guard, yesterday's firing having been done by that company.

Pullman Employes Strike.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Three thousand men employed at the great car shops at Pullman laid down their tools and went out this morning, joining the thousand that quit yesterday. There is no one at work in the town to-day except the men employed in the track shops, who do not number more than 500.

A big mass meeting was held at 9 o'clock, at which good order prevailed, although the men were somewhat excited over the situation. Resolutions were adopted denouncing the riotous action of the socialists; declaring that they had no sympathy with that element or its methods and counseling quiet and good order.

The Millionaire Lumberman Dead.

DUBOIS, Pa., May 6.—John DuBois the millionaire lumberman, died at his home in this city shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, of catarrh of the stomach, in the 78th year of his age. The deceased was the founder of DuBois. He located here in 1873, when there were but three houses. His business has grown rapidly and he was estimated to be worth from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. He deeded all his property to his nephew, John E. Dubois, last week. Mr. DuBois was born near Owego, Tioga county, N. Y., March 3, 1800. His education was obtained in the district schools, and he early learned habits of industry. The funeral will take place here on Sunday.

Only 80 Cents a Day.

READING, May 6.—A majority of the iron ore mines along the East Penn railroad, between here and Allentown, employed probably 500 men, have been put in operation the proprietors of nearly all of them advancing wages from 8 to 12 per cent. so that the miners are now getting eighty cents per day of from 12 to 14 hours, with a prospect of regular work for some months. During the past winter the men with large families did not earn $2 per week. The miners of Lichtenwalner & Schmoyer, the largest largest operators of Upper Macungie, asked for a 10 per cent. advance which was refused and they struck. They were getting seventy cents per day.

Assistant to Bishop Stevens.

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—The Episcopal convention this afternoon elected Rev. Philips Brooks, of Boston, assistant bishop of the diocese. He received 82 votes out of 161. During the progress of the balloting John C Cadwallader produced an afternoon paper, in which it was stated that Dr. Brooks had informed his parish that he would not accept the office if chosen. The reading of the statement was interrupted by objections and some commotion ensued, which was terminated by Lemuel Coffin, who said that he had a letter from Dr. Brooks of a contrary nature.

Fatal Storm on Lake Calumet.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Yesterday afternoon Daniel Dunbar, of Pullman, one of the team selected to row at the spring races of the club, went out in a shell for training practice on Calumet lake. A fierce squall blew up and all sight of Dunbar was lost.

A rescuing party went out but was unable to reach him before nightfall, and then lost him in the darkness. This morning his boat was found, bottom up, on the west shore of the lake. The young oarsman undoubtedly lies beneath the waters of the lake.

Some Washington News.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The senate in executive session to-day cleared its calendar of nominations. The only confirmation made public was that of Z. M. Seelick, to be governor of Arizona. The nomination of R. S. Dement, to be surveyor general of Utah, adversely reported from the public lands committee, was recommitted. The rejection of Charles R. Pollard, to be associate justice of the supreme court, Montana, is officially announced.

Briefs.

RANGOON, May 5.—Advices just received from Mandalay state that four thousand houses, including the Chinese Siamese bazaars, have been totally destroyed by incendiaries. The small force of military in the town were unable to render any assistance. Reinforcements are urgently needed, and will be sent with all possible speed.

WILLIAMSPORT, May 5.—C. A. Bowers has been appointed receiver of the City National bank and entered upon his duties to-day. The official statement of the condition of the bank shows an excess of $51,000 over the assets. It is believed the depositors will receive 25 per cent of the amount due them in a short time.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—At the Gentleman's Driving Park to-day Silas C. won the unfinished pacing race in 2.27½. Julia C., the favorite, won the 2.34 pacing race; White Eye second, Peachblow third; best time—2.29¾. Ben Hamlin, the favorite, won the 2.22 race in 2.24¾; Nettie T. second, Merry Thought third.

DETROIT, May 5.—The strikers in the western part of the city have continued orderly but are very decided in their demands and have by force of numbers overawed several hundred more men so that they, too, are out now.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 5.—Fourteen workmen were buried by the collapsing Brackett block this afternoon. Five bodies have been recovered one dead, and four others dangerously injured, perhaps fatally. Their names were not learned. The walls fell inward on the workmen.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The senate committee on postoffices and post-roads this morning directed that a favorable report be made on the case of Mrs. Thompson to be postmistress at Louisville, Ky.

SCRANTON, Pa., May 5. General Master Workman Powderly in an interview yesterday vigorously denounced the Chicago anarchists and their desperate work.

SHENANDOAH, May 6.—An unsuccessful but well planned attempt to burn a whole section of this borough was made about midnight last night by unknown parties. Fires were simultaneously started at three different places in the Fifth ward, a section built up entirely with wood. Fortunately the flames were discovered before they had gotten full headway, and were extinguished without causing serious damage. There is no clue to the incendiaries.

ATHENS, May 6.—The reply of Premier Dely Aonia to the ultimatum of the powers is considered by them inadequate. The foreign ministers will leave Athens to-morrow morning. Great excitement prevails here. Officers of the garrison have been summoned to the barracks and it is reported troops will proceed to the front to-morrow. Several members of the chamber of deputies, who are officers in the army, have been ordered to the front. The general commanding the Greek troops on the frontier telegraphs that the Turks are missing and that he has ordered a counter-movement by his troops.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The exciting labor troubles was the topic of discussion at the regular cabinet meeting to-day, in the course of which the riots in Chicago, Milwaukee and elsewhere were referred to with a view of taking such precautions for the protection of government property as may be found necessary.

The House passed the river and harbor bill to-day as reported from the committee on the whole by a vote of 143 to 102.

PITTSBURG, May 6.—The trouble at Rends coal mines was settled satisfactorily to all concerned to day, and the miners who struck will resume work in the morning. Col. Rend denies the reports that he had employed or had any intention of engaging negro laborers to take the place of the strikers. Hansfield miners to the number of a thousand struck this morning, have also settled their differences and will go to work to-morrow.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—At the Gentlemen's Driving Park to-day Matchless won the 2.38 race; Governor, second; Katie M., third. Best time, 2.32½. Kitty Birch won the 2.26 race; Centilia, second; Justice third. Best time 2.27½, by Centilia. In the 2.22 pacing race Mission Boy and Aronto each took a heat in 2.21¾ and 2.22½ respectively.

ATHENS, Greece, May 7.—The government has sent a gunboat to Constantinople to take away from the Turkish capital M. Conduriott, the Greek minister. Greek troops are being hurried to the front with all possible speed. All the foreign ministers have embarked on vessels of their respective nations to depart from Greece. The powers have given orders to their fleets to blockade the Greek ports. The Turkish ambassador with his staff, has left the city, taking with them their personal effects. At the last moment the Russian minister refused to leave, saying that in the absence of instructions he would have to remain.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., May 7.—About dusk last evening two prisoners escaped from the county jail and are yet at large. One was confined for burglary and the other for forgery. The door had been bolted and the pad-lock put on but not locked, and it was an easy matter to reach through the iron bar, push back the bolt and remove the pad-lock. As yet there has been no reward offered.

FLORENCE, Wis., May 7.—The dwelling of Ira Pixley, a homesteader in Florence county, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. Three children and a Miss Henry were badly burned, and a 2-year old girl was entirely consumed, only a few charred bones being found. The terrible affair was the result of a sweeping forest fire.

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 7.—The fire at Thayer & Gordon's oil wells was accidental and not incendiary as at first supposed. John Desney, a tool dresser, unintentionally crossed the danger line with a lighted lantern, igniting the gas and causing a terrific explosion. Desney was fatally burned. The two wells caught fire and are still burning. The loss will reach $6,000.

There Must be an Open Road between the food we eat and the substance of which our bodies are composed. If the road is clogged or closed we sicken, faint and die. This road is made up of the organs of digestion or assimilation. Of these the stomach and liver are chief. Most people have had more or less experience of the horrors of constipation. Prevent it and all its fearful sequences by using Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." It is the first step that costs.

Consumption cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after testing its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y. 17 46 1y

—The appearance of the business block next the Republican office has been greatly improved by the removal of the wooden awning.

—At least one of Bellefonte's citizens is said to have traded horses with the Gypsies, and in a few hours the citizen was anxious to trade back again. He lost only $10

—Mr. Samuel Clouser, of New Bloomfield, Perry county, while cutting wood the other day caught his axe on a wire clothes line, receiving very ugly cuts about the head.

—From the Huntingdon Local News: "Miss Carrie M. Quiggle, daughter of Captain James Quiggle, of Eagleville, accompanied by her friend Miss Fannie C. Bell, of Altoona, is visiting friends in this city."

—Mr. S. A. Stover, the Bellefonte marble man, erected a handsome monument a few days ago over the grave of the late Mr. Tipton, of Howard. Mr. Stover has been unusually busy this season and all his work is much admired.

—Occasionally traveling street musicians, who play very nicely, put in appearance, and they are always welcome. A violin and harp are a good combination, and these instruments, chording excellently, were heard on the street on Wednesday.

—Mr. Monroe, the son of Rev. Dr Monroe, is in possession of numerous autographs of distinguished people, both living and dead. Among his especially valuable possessions is an autograph letter from Abraham Lincoln. The penmanship is quite legible.

—Mr. R. A. Beck, the distinguished tonsorial artist, states that he is not the author of the letter to Hon. P. Gray Meek which was read by Walter Lembkey from the stage of Humes' Hall on Thursday. There is some very serious error in this affair. Who can explain it?

—F. Potts Green was very fortunate in his fishing experience on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. On Tuesday he pulled out a 12 inch trout and Wednesday one measuring 13 inches. He placed the beauties in his aquarium at the drug store where they swim about and look as handsome as gold fish.

—The girls would oblige us greatly if they would not wear veils. We like to see the face of every young lady we meet, and it is tantalizing to meet one without being able to tell what her face is like. It is also difficult to recognize some ladies whom we know when their fair faces are hid beneath such coverings

—A ball was held in Armory Hall, Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Kismet Club. It was a select and enjoyable affair, about twenty couples being present. Choice music was rendered by the Italian Orchestra, and under the influence of its inspiring strains the dance continued until the early hours of this morning.

—There is trouble in the Democratic ranks and the Centre Democrat pitches into its representative in Congress in a style quite appalling to said representative. Whether Mr. Frank Bible is right or wrong, it is certain that he can use the Queen's English with excellent effect. Meanwhile, the indications are excellent that a Republican will represent this district in Congress next term and if a candidate is needed there are many who are willing to serve the dear people in that capacity.

—The Clearfield correspondent of the Altoona Tribune writes that the largest and no doubt the best barn in Clearfield county, owned by Isaac C. McCloskey, of Karthaus township, was destroyed by fire Tuesday night, May 4, together with twenty-eight head of sheep, seven head of horses, nine hundred bushels of wheat, two hundred bushels of oats, one hundred bushels of rye and thirty tons of hay. The origin of the fire is not known. The loss is estimated at $6,250, with an insurance of $1,500.

—On Thursday, June 10, at York, Pa., will be held the seventeeth annual reunion of the Society of the Ninth Pennsylvania Veteran Cavalry. Orders for excursion tickets can only be had by applying to the secretary, A. F. Schench, Esq., Lancaster, Pa. These tickets will be good to go on from June 9 to 10 and return on until the 15 inclusive. All comrades are cordially invited to attend. Captain H. K. Myers, of Lykens, Pa., is president, and B. F. Isenberg, of Huntingdon, is treasurer.

Closing Exercises of the High School.

The closing exercises of the Bellefonte High School, held in Humes' Hall Thursday afternoon and evening, elicited a surprising degree of interest. It is pleasant to note that the cause of education does attract so much attention. It is encouraging to both teachers and pupils and a source of general congratulation.

Elaborate preparations were made for the exercises. The stage was profusely and tastefully decorated with rare and beautiful flowers, plants and evergreens. The National colors were arranged above it in tasteful folds. The Bellefonte Orchestra was stationed near the stage, slightly to the left, the only occupants of the platform being Prof. J. O Etters, the principal of the school, and Rev. J A. Woodcock, who always takes an earnest interest in such gatherings. The class motto, "Droit et Avant, Right and Forward," was inscribed in green above it. The young ladies and gentlemen, who are pupils of the school, were assembled in the front seats, many of the former looking very pretty in the first white dresses of the season.

These were the exterior preparations, and the exercises which followed evinced the careful and thorough preparation of heart and mind which had been in progress during all the months of the Fall and Winter and Spring; and the teachers, Prof. D. O. Etters and Miss Alma Reed, certainly had reason to be proud of their work as the orations, readings, essays and declamations proceeded so naturally and satisfactorily without one mistake or failure.

The hall was comfortably full in the afternoon, the audience being largely composed of young people.

As a general remark, before speaking of the exercises separately, we must express our pleasure at the fact that all the exercises were so simple and unaffected. The readings did not include selections involving the greatest exercise of human powers, but were suited to the capabilities of young people who do not profess to be other than they are—still students, not with perfection already attained, but with the world of progress before them and "Forward" as their motto. The same may be said of the orations and essays—the subject being well chosen in each instance. This is a feature not often found in similar exercises.

Prayer by Rev. J. A. Woodcock opened the exercises in the afternoon and then the Bellefonte Orchestra gave its first selection for the day. The delight with which the music of this orchestra is heard never grows less, and Thursday its performances were received with the highest appreciation, and in two instances the orchestra received a compliment which perhaps would be accorded to few other musical organizations. Both afternoon and evening an orchestral selection formed the concluding exercises. Always in a crowd there is a temptation to depart just in time to avoid the throng, but the music of the orchestra on these occasions held the people in their seats until the final note had died away and a liberal applause was given.

So far as the orations of a serious character are concerned, we can speak in high praise of the one delivered by Howard Harvey, on "The Moulding of Character." His manner of speaking is exceedingly fine, being calm and earnest while at the same time it is slow and deliberate. Miss Jennie Fauble read a selection, "The Lightning Rod Dispenser," with clear enunciation, and bringing out the humorous points of the composition so that they could be grasped and appreciated by the audience. Jno. D. McCafferty read an essay eulogistic of "William Penn" It presented the principal facts in the life of the honored founder of the State.

"Don't Give Up," was the title of the oration delivered by Mr. Hugh Taylor. It contained sentiments of a determination to succeed even against obstacles which we hope he as well as all other young men will adhere to through life.

Andrew Howley read an essay somewhat historical in its character with "Napoleon I" as its subject, and Chas. C. Moore declaimed a pathetic selection entitled, "On the Other Train." Charley not only repeats the words, but also successfully depicts the emotions expressed. After a selection entitled "Little Nell" had been read in an admirable manner by Miss Jennie Stott, Mr. Walter Lembkey contributed the most enjoyable exercise of the afternoon in his "Presentation Oration." It was humorous and almost every sentence elicited merriment and applause.

To Will Bartley, whom he termed the poet, he presented a tin trumpet; to Philosopher Andrew Howley, a large painting palate; to Hugh Taylor, a small hatchet; to Howard Harvey, a potato masher; to George Meek, a large wooden razor and a tin can for a shaving mug; to Elmer Yerger a pair of suspenders and to Jno. D. McCafferty, in memory of his nationality, a large green flag. Walter was cool and collected in all that he did and got off his pungent, humorous remarks with all the grace of a professional.

Miss Jennie Howley made a pleasing appearance on the stage and read excellently a piece entitled "The Young Gray Head," and Mr. Geo. R. Meek pronounced the valedictory oration on the topic, "The Bright Side of Life," in a very excellent style.

This ended the exercises of the afternoon.

THE EVENING ENTERTAINMENT.

A larger audience assembled in the evening and doubtless some were turned away because they could not secure seats.

Rev. Prof. D. M. Wolf Rev. Dr. Monroe, President D. F. Fortney and several members of the school board and Rev. E. E. Higbee, State Superintendent of Education, were grouped on the stage. President Fortney introduced Dr. Higbee, who delivered an address replete with practical suggestions which are the result of extensive experience, scholarly illustrations and evidently of a strictly extemporaneous character. The audience listened to his instructive remarks with perfect respect and attention and followed them with very liberal applause.

President Fortney said that it was not his intention to deliver an address. That had been satisfactorily done by Dr. Higbee, but he volunteered to explain the condition of the schools and the circumstances which render the erection of a new school building a matter of the most urgent necessity. He did this forcibly. His special remarks to the six young gentlemen who composed the graduating class were read from manuscript. They arose to receive their diplomas. The class of 1886 was introduced to the audience. It is made up of Messrs. A. C. Howley, J. D. McCafferty, H. S. Taylor, J. H. Harvey, W. I. Lembkey and Geo. R. Meek.

To Andrew Howley he presented a handsomely bound volume of speeches by Hon. Daniel Webster for excellence in Mathematics and to Hugh Taylor Green's History, 5 Vols, as a recognition of his progress in the Natural Sciences.

After the Benediction and a selection from the Orchestra, the audience departed.

Interesting Extracts from an Old Paper.

The annual house-cleaning time has the effect of resurrecting some ancient articles which possess more or less interest to the present generation. For instance, Mr. E. C. Humes, Thursday, happened to find among his possessions, a copy of the Bellefonte Patriot, printed on June 21, 1832. It is No. 11 of Vol. 15 of that paper.

Even in that day a degree of temperance sentiment seemed to pervade the contents of the paper. One of the articles on the first page is entitled, "Beware of a Drunken Husband," and on the second page are two notices, as follows:

TEMPERANCE MEETING.

A meeting of the Centre county Temperance Society will be held in the Court House in Bellefonte, on the 4th day of July, next, at 10 o'clock a. m. An address will be made by John Blanchard, Esq The citizens of the county generally are respectfully invited to attend

MANAGERS.

A meeting of the Boalsburg Temperance Society will be held in the German Meeting House, in Boalsburg, on Monday, the 25th of June, at 3 o'clock p. m. An address will be delivered by Rev. Samuel Hill. Gentlemen and ladies friendly to the cause are respectfully invited to attend.

J. BERGSTRESSER, Sec'y.

Imagine a temperance meeting on the Fourth of July! Such a mode of celebration would be almost impossible now.

The news from England which the paper contains is of a more exciting character than the telegrams now flashed to us per cablegram. The sensational head lines are—"The King has refused to create Peers—The Grey Ministry have Resigned All England in a state of Excitement, and, in the language of the London Times of the 11th, Reform or Revolution inevitable.

The paper supported Andrew Jackson for President, William Wilkins for Vice President, and George Wolf for Governor.

In those good old days of apprentices men learning the various trades were held to a stricter accountability than they are now. For instance, two advertisements appear in the paper. One for a John Baker, a dark mulatto man who was apprenticed to the forging business under Simon Stanley, and another for John Eberle, a journeyman tailor, who "absconded" from his employer. The paper is full of interesting things too numerous to refer to. Its publisher was Henry Petrikin.

Light on the Streets.

Tyrone is rather slow in taking steps forward, but she evidently believes that she will get ahead of Bellefonte in the street-lighting business if the council of that town will accept a proposition recently made, which, says a correspondent of the Altoona Tribune, "is to furnish sixty lights of seventy-five candle power each, distributed all over the town and penetrating out into the suburbs and on Brewery hill; furnish light for the public building; pay all expenses connected with running the wires; keep the lamps in repair and furnish the light all night, every night in the year—moon or no moon—for the sum of $1,000. The reader can form a better idea of how much light is given off from a twenty-five candle power bulb when he is told that it is just about double the power of a six-foot gas burner. The cost is much less than is paid by the borough of Bellefonte, besides we shall have a much stronger light than they. They pay $1,300 for sixty lights of sixteen candle power each, making seventy-five lights of less than half the brilliancy that those proposed to be put in here will be.

Death of William M. Parsons.

Friday morning, at exactly 30 minutes past 12 o'clock, Mr. William M. Parsons, son of Mrs. Steele Parsons, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Walkey, in this borough. William Parsons never enjoyed very robust health. His disease developed into consumption and for three months he has been confined to the house—most of that time to his bed. He suffered greatly during the closing hours of his life.

He was one of thirteen children, seven of whom preceded him into eternity, and five remain.

He was an agreeable young man whom all will remember affectionately, and his recent sufferings have elicited for him the deepest sympathy of the community. At the time of his death his age was 27 years, 7 months and 7 days. Funeral services were held at Mr. Walkey's house at four o'clock last Sunday afternoon.

Death of Mrs. W. C. Hubler.

On Tuesday morning, May 4, between the hours of seven and eight o'clock, death entered the home of Mr. W. C. Hubler, of Penn township, and took away his much-beloved wife. The lady had been suffering for nearly a year from what was supposed to be dyspepsia and several weeks before her death her recovery had been despaired of. Mrs. Hubler was a daughter of the late John Musser, tailor, of Haines township, and was 44 years old. She belonged to the Reformed church and was always known as a very quiet, christian woman. A sorrowing husband and two grown daughters are the surviving members of the family who deeply mourn the loss of a dear wife and mother.

The funeral took place on Thursday forenoon at 9 o'clock, when her remains were conveyed to Woll's cemetery in Haines township, for interment.—Millheim Journal.

Smoke House Thieves.

On Tuesday night, May 4, thieves made a raid on the smoke house belonging to Christ Hartsock, along Buffalo Run, and took six pieces of meat. The parties are not known, but they will do well to make themselves scarce around Mr. Hartsock's meat house hereafter. Similar depredations have been committed in several parts of the county and it would be well for those who have property exposed in this manner to exert extra care.

—The reorganization committee of the Beech Creek railroad met in New York the other day and discussed the final steps of reorganization. The road is to be sold about June 4, and it has been decided to make the name of the new corporation the Beech Creek, Clearfield and Southwestern. There will be seven directors, including the president, instead of thirteen, as at present. Of the directors four will come from Pennsylvania and three from New York. Of the New York directors, two will be Cornelius and William K. Vanderbilt. The Pennsylvania directors have not all been selected, but it is understood that Senator Wallace will continue to act as president and Allen Coxe as secretary.

—On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Chas. F. Cook was appointed to fulfill the duties of borough treasurer, S. Durbin Gray, Esq., the regular incumbent of that office, being too ill to give it his attention. The appointment was made by the Court at the request of the council. It is an excellent choice as Mr. Cook is well qualified to perform all the duties devolving upon a borough treasurer, being a skilled accountant and a careful, methodical business man.

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

Capt. Coleman, schr, Weymouth plying between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It not only gave him instant relief, but allayed the soreness in his breast. His children were similarly affected and a single dose had the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the schooner.

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $250 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed, and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer, to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money. RENNER MANUFACTURING CO.,

LIKE HIS FATHER,

He Was Afflicted With Stone in the Bladder.

MR. S. W. HICKS, of Pleasant Valley, Duchess County, N. Y., the son of Mr. E. S Hicks, whose name may have appeared in this journal in connection with an article similar to this, was, like his father, afflicted with Stone in the Bladder only that his case was more serious than his father's. The father advised his son to write to Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who, he said would tell him what to do. Dr. Kennedy replied suggesting the use of KENNEDY'S FAVORIT REMEDY, which had worked so successfully in father's case. Mr. Hicks, who had been assured by the local physicians that they could do nothing more for him, tried FAVORITE REMEDY. After two weeks' use of it he passed a stone ¾ of an inch long and of the thickness of a pipe stem Since then he has had no symptoms of a return of the trouble. Here is a sick man healed. What better results could have been expected? What greater benefit could medical science confer? The end was gained, that is surely enough. Dr. Kennedy assures the public, by a reputation which he cannot afford to imperil, that the FAVORITE REMEDY does invigorate the blood, cures liver kidney and bladder complaints, as well as all those diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females.

—The Bellefonte Laundry will hereafter be conducted by James Bayard.

—Handsome, bright-looking passenger cars are used on the Lemont railroad.

—Bishop street is gradually changing into one of the finest streets in the borough.

—Snow ball blossoms are beginning to develop and the fragrant orange blossoms will follow.

—The third annual county convention of the W. C. T. U. will be held in Bellefonte on Thursday, May 27. Meetings open to all.

—Rev. F. H. Cooper, pastor of the Baptist church of Lock Haven, has resigned, and will preach his farewell sermon on May 30.

—Some places in town too much water is thrown on the streets. People are compelled to wear overshoes all the time to keep their feet dry.

—Gingerich's large brick flouring mill, at Oak Hall, was destroyed by fire Monday morning about three o'clock. The origin of the fire is not known.

—Mr. George B. Weaver is calling on our citizens with the object of gathering data to enable the water committee to properly assess the water taxes for 1886

—The display of aurora borealis, or northern lights, Saturday night between 9 and 10 o'clock, was very brilliant and was witnessed with admiration by many persons.

—It would be well to erect a huge tent or canvass awning over the tennis court, so that in quite warm weather the game can be carried on without exposure to the sun.

—Dr. A. Hibler is already rejoicing over the grand crop of home strawberries which he anticipates having soon. The vines in his garden are now covered with blossoms.

—Howard Post, G. A. R. has buried six comrades within the last two years. The two last were James Poorman, of Curtin township and Irvin Haines of Liberty township.

—Edmund Blanchard, Esq., is said to be arranging one of the finest gardens in Bellefonte in the rear of his residence, under the supervision of a skilled gardener from the city.

—It seems to us that a good many small children fall into Logan Branch creek. Two more fell in while crossing the creek on Sunday and were rescued by Mr. Chas. Miller.

—We regret to hear of the death on Sunday afternoon of Mrs. Ella Wyland, of Milesburg. She was a very excellent young woman and had been married only about two years.

—A woman will face a frowning world and cling to the man she loves through the most bitter adversity; but she won't wear a bonnet that is out of fashion to save the government.

—A new coal tar walk is being constructed on both the north and south side of the Court House grounds. Now, the court house ring can come out in grand parade every day.

—Mr. J. H. Sands has purchased the property on Allegheny street until recently belonging to the Wolf estate. He will make numerous repairs and improvements before occupying it.

—The mines at work in the Philipsburg region are said to be reaping a rich harvest, They are in operation night and day, employing a great number of men and shipping large quantities of coal.

—A Philipsburg young lady got a fish bone in her throat the other day and there it remained for several days. The doctors could not remove it, but at length it moved itself and the frightened young lady was wonderfully relieved.

—Why is it that people, in alighting from the cars, will not get off on the side next the depot? We often see them stepping from the cars to the narrow space between the track and the race. It is quite a dangerous place.

—Col. D. H. Hastings, of the Fifth regiment, N. G., has invited all the captains of the various regiments and also Quartermaster McMillen to meet him at Roaring Springs on Friday next to view the camp ground. The Fifth regiment will go into camp on the 17th inst., until the 24th.

Something about Musical Instruction

That the closing exercises of the High School were intensely interesting, we believe that none will deny. Neither do we imagine that there are any who doubt the wisdom of the School Board in taking steps to erect a commodious and serviceable school building. This admiration for the school and accord in the opinion of the Board were certainly intensified by those who had the good fortune to hear the address of Rev. Dr. Higbee or that of President Fortney.

That the faithful labors of our efficient corps of teachers has a telling effect for good upon the children of our town is very evident now, and no doubt the coming generation will rise up and call them blessed. And yet there is one branch of the work that seems to receive but little attention. We refer to music. That virtually nothing is done for the children in this line of study in this town is very certain.

We hold that if ten minutes' time of every school day could be applied systematically to the teaching of the rudiments of music, the child, at the age of 12 to 15, would be qualified to read music as readily as he does his fourth or fifth readers. And as the maxim holds good in nearly every instance, especially in this case, "that the more we know about any certain object, the more we are interested in it."

As the child grows to learn more of the study the more interested he will be in it, and it will have an ennobling influence upon his future life. But as the work is done for this term we are glad to hear of a proposition under consideration by the Y. M. C. A. to engage the services of Prof. Alfred Bierly, of New York, to teach a term of three weeks, giving every alternate afternoon to teaching the rudiments, in which they expect and hope to interest from one hundred to two hundred of all ages and sexes that wish to receive a thorough knowledge of how to read music at sight; and as our "Young America" no doubt will be anxious for the opportunity, the success of the undertaking will depend largely upon the encouragement the committee will receive from the parents. This series of lessons will begin about the 24th of the present month or the week following the close of all the schools. In addition, the committee contemplate engaging the services of the Professor alternate evening for drilling a chorus of 75 or 100 voices to render an oratorio for the benefit of the Piano fund, hoping by this arrangement to wipe out that old debt.

An Evening of Fun.

The entertainment to be given in Humes' Hall on Monday evening, the 24th of this month, will draw together an audience that will fill the hall, because it will be entirely unlike anything ever before given in Bellefonte and because it will be really excellent of its kind. For instance, the three young ladies and the three young gentlemen who will take part in the comedy are splendidly fitted to render it well, making the most of every amusing situation. The comedy is chosen because of its rollicking fun and merriment and entire absence of anything objectionable.

Added to this, three or four of the best lady vocalists of the town will sing. Just where the music will be introduced we cannot positively state. They will probably entertain the audience with at least one selection previous to the rising of the curtain. Then if there are any intermissions between acts they will fittingly fill up the time, and if there is any music in the comedy itself they can furnish it.

Before the audience has quite recovered from the intoxicating humor of the play Mrs. Jarley will appear with her waxworks. She has added to her collection since the introduction of the peachblow vase and don't intend to be outdone by any old vase resurrected from a heathen country. Her collection embraces some of the rarest antiques of priceless value which she will sell cheap.

The entertainment will of itself be worth more than the price of admission and will furnish more fun than any ordinary amusement that visits Bellefonte, but it is also intended to aid a cause which meets with the commendation of all, the participants freely donating their time and talents.

The Miners' Strike.

This is the eighth week of the strike in the Snow Shoe mining region and we do not hear of any evidence that it will soon end.

Berwind, White & Co. say they cannot grant the advance because they have made so many contracts at a low price. Who these contracts are with they do not state.

At Coalport the Berwind-White company have granted the advance and the mine is in full blast. The Philipsburg and Morrisdale mines, run by other operators, are also working. The working miners are paying one-half of their earnings to support the strikers and will continue to do so until the strike ends.

—Five hundred pounds weight of meteors falls upon the earth's surface every hour. The average weight of a meteor is only about five grains. Consequently we are glad we are not large enough to cover the entire earth's surface, for to be struck by a five-grain meteor don't hurt, but to be struck by the whole five hundred at once would be very unpleasant.

Won and Wedded.

The Methodist church was thronged on Thursday evening from vestibule to chancel rail with an assemblage of people who came to see an event which never loses its interest—a wedding. Even the gallery was filled. The people were shown to seats by four ushers—Messrs. Chas. Shuey, Hard Harris, Joe Montgomery and John Bullock—each of whom looked like a bridegroom in a dress suit and button-hole bouquet.

At 7:30 o'clock Miss Shrom touched the organ to the time of a popular wedding march, Rev. Dr. Monroe assumed a waiting attitude in the chancel and this served as a signal for all eyes to look toward the middle aisle where, moving slowly and gracefully, came the wedding party—the four ushers first and then the observed of all observers, the bride and groom.

The dignified minister met them and, with a brief and beautiful ceremony, pronounced George Chase, Jr., and Lizzie Viola Morris man and wife, and the wedding party retraced their steps down the aisle.

The bride was attired in a rich brown costume. She is a tall, lovely young lady She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Morris of Miles township, and has made her home for a long time in the family of the Messrs. Joseph on Allegheny street, this place. The groom is an industrious, pleasant young gentleman. They are a very handsome couple and the pleasing scene enacted at the marriage altar is, we hope, but the sure promise of a long life of happiness and prosperity.

After a brief and informal reception they departed at 8.55 o'clock for a tour of the large cities, expecting to return this week.

A Bellefonte Boy at Albany.

The handsomest commencement invitations we have seen are those issued by the Albany Law School, of which we have received one, requesting our presence at Commencement exercises, Thursday, May 20, at 3 o'clock p. m. in Leland Opera House. Class-Day exercises, Wednesday evening, May 19, at eight o'clock, in College Hall, Law School Building. The Commencement orators are Will E. Gray, Bellefonte, Pa., Ross Shinn, Benton Harbor, Mich., Chas. B. Templeton, Albany, N. Y., Valedictorian, Charles J. Smith, Viroqua, Wis. Just here permit us to remark that it is an honor to Mr. Gray to be placed first among the commencement orators chosen from so many students of the foremost law school in the country. If we could do so we would be pleased to go to Albany to witness the triumph which he will be sure to achieve. We were present when Mr. Gray graduated from State College, and then considered his orations in subject matter and delivery the best among all the graduating orations of the day. We have no doubt that Mr. Gray has a bright future before him; it is certainly very promising.

—Horace E. Robinson, of Baltimore, Md., promises to treat the young and old who will go to the Reformed church this (Thursday) evening at 7:30 o'clock to an interesting service, which he calls the "Church Building Service." Aided by eight little boys and eight girls, he will build a small church of wood, which is intended to illustrate the building of the church of Christ. This attractive religious object lesson will be enforced by appropriate words from Mr. Robinson. All the members of the various Sunday-schools and churches are expected to be present.

Grateful for Kindness.

Mrs Steele Parsons and family have reason to be extremely grateful to many friends and neighbors for kindnesses in their recent affliction—the death of Mr. Will Parsons. They accordingly most earnestly thank all who interested themselves in their behalf. The memory of such good deeds will never die, and may those who were so generous as to perform these acts be bountifully blessed.

—The fourth mock trial to be given by the Bellefonte Literary Society for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A., in the Association Hall, on this (Thursday) evening, promises to be a grand affair. The case will be one of assault and battery with intent to kill. The Judge will be Jackson L. Spangler, Esq. The Commonwealth and defense will be represented by able barristers of the bar. All are invited to come. Admission, 10 cents.

—On Monday the Philadelphia Times published the pictures of a dozen or more gentlemen who would like to receive the Republican nomination for some one of the various offices in its gift next fall. Of the entire collection, T. J. Stewart for Secretary of Internal Affairs is perhaps the handsomest, while Thos. V. Cooper is the ugliest. Gen. Beaver is the first on the list for Governor, but his picture is not as good-looking as the original.

Transfer of G. A. R. Post.

Owing to the storm and other circumstances, Post 298, G. A. R., was not transferred from Rebersburg to Millheim on Friday, May 7, but the transfer will be made on Monday, May 17. Excursion tickets have been applied for. All comrades are cordially invited to be present.

Death of Thomas Hepburn.

The death of Mr. Thomas Hepburn, of this place, occurred Monday at 6 30 o'clock. The deceased was a son of Mr. Robert Hepburn. Several weeks ago he injured himself severely by lifting a heavy weight and his death was the result of that accident.

The deceased was born on the 29th of September, 1855, making his age 30 years, 7 months and 11 days. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his departure. Two brothers and one sister also survive him.

Mr. Hepburn was an industrious, excellent man and a good citizen. Although dying in the prime of manhood, when life seems especially precious and pleasant, and surrounded by associations which it is difficult to sever, yet Mr. Hepburn was prepared for the change. He viewed the future calmly and with confidence in the Divine mercy and fell asleep as peacefully as those who expect to awake the coming morn.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Don't Trade.

Gypsies will come and Gypsies will go, but it is just as well to leave them severely alone. Few persons can fool with a genuine band of Gypsies without getting hurt. Especially is it dangerous to trade horses with them. They don't trade horses for the purpose of giving you the better of the bargain. Indeed, they live by getting a little money once in awhile just like other people and this is one of the ways they adopt to get it. Once in a century you will find a man who can beat even a Gypsy in a horse trade, but such men are rare. It is supposed that Gypsies train their horses. One minute they are quiet and tractable and they next minute they may kick forcibly enough to destroy the finest stable in the State. Even when a sheriff proceeds to compel the re-exchange of horses the Gypsies will have some right to prescribe the conditions, and there will be money to pay.

Two Accidents.

On Saturday night a son of John Wable, who is employed at the glass factory, fell from a fence, breaking one of his arms.

Ruphenia Berger a daughter of Mr. Michael Berger, fell from a second story window on Sunday evening about 7 o'clock and was severely injured. Mr. Berger lives on Logan street. Ruphenia, who is about ten years old, was throwing some water from the window when she was overbalanced and fell. Beneath was a pile of stones, but the force of the fall was somewhat broken by a fence, against which she fell before striking the ground. She was unconscious when picked up and remained so until 9 o'clock. No bones were broken, but she is much bruised and it is feared that her spine is injured.

—The stretch of green field between the rear of the Court House and the Jail in one of the most conspicous spots in Bellefonte and offers a rare opportunity to the designer of fine grounds to exert his genius upon it to make it a handsome as a picture and to blossom as a rose. The soil in that spot is not so rich as to make nature yield prolifically, so the hand of art may profitally be applied upon it. If terraces were constructed all the way up the hill, the spaces between leveled, trees and bushes planted there and a fountain located in the centre to throw out a refreshing spray, it would be lovely, and when, in warm weather, the people from the country come to court, the Park would be a favorite place of resort at noon, and people of the town might repair thither at any time. A band could be located there summer evenings. As a Park it would be easily accessible to all. Cannot this plan be carried out?

Disastrous Runaway.

The horse owned by Mr. Harry Hicks was hitched to the wagon Monday in the rear of Hicks' hardware store when it became frightened and run. The wagon came in contact with some object on Bishop street and was badly wrecked. There the animal came loose from the vehicle and ran on to High street, continuing its flight along Smith street until it was caught near Crider's mill. The animal was slightly, but not seriously, hurt.

—The rear fence has been removed from Mr. Robert Valentine's premises and barbed wire has been put in its place. The result is a great improvement in the lawn, as it is exposed to view. This is sufficient to illustrate how much handsomer fine grounds would appear if all the fences could be removed, but this is impossible while the idea prevails that cows, hogs, dogs, etc., have the right to go where they please without restraint.

—A large congregation heard Rev. Dr. Monroe's sermon on "The Model Young Man," in the Methodist church, Sunday evening, and it proved to be quite impressive. We have heard numerous allusions to it in incidental conversation on the street to-day and all speak admiringly of it.

—The sermons delivered by Rev. Chas. Steck in the Lutheran church, on Sunday, were remarkably fine. The text of the morning sermon was from Psalm 122:1 and that of the evening discourse from Nehemiah 4:18.

Escaped from a Watery Grave.

Mr. John A. Paul, the genial manager of the Huntingdon Boot and Shoe factory and W. A. DeForest, were the victims of an accident Wednesday that might have been attended with very serious results. Both gentlemen are expert marksmen and for the better prosecution of their favorite pastime they repaired to Fisher's Island near the dam above town, for the purpose of locating a suitable site for a rifle range. At the conclusion of their labors the two gentlemen set about returning to the opposite shore in a small skiff. They had not proceeded far when in some unaccountable manner their frail craft upset, precipitating the unfortunate occupants into the water, which at that place is over ten feet deep. With great difficulty the two gentlemen succeeded in reaching the shore, but by the time this was accomplished both were very much exhausted. Mr. Paul, who is a very heavy man, especially encountered great difficulty in effecting his escape.—Huntingdon Local News.

—We hear that Dr. F. H. Hoy and lady departed from New York City a few days ago to Los Angeles, Cal., where they will locate. Dr. Hoy is a brother of Dr. H. K. Hoy of this place. He has had extensive experience as a physician and has a reputation for superior skill, Not content with that, however, and with the object of devoting special attention hereafter to diseases of the eye and ear, he has spent the past Winter in New York City, taking a course of study and practice bearing especially on that subject. He has attended the instruction in a prominent institution and has also had the advantage of private instruction. A general request came for a well known specialist in New York City to locate in Los Angeles, but he being unable to do so, sent Dr. Hoy in his place. Under these circumstances there is almost a certainty that he will at once enter into a large practice, which fact will please his numerous friends in this county.

—Centre county Pomona Grange, No. 13, will meet in the hall of Bald Eagle Grange, Milesburg, on Tuesday, the 25th of May, at 10 o'clock, a. m. Installation of officers immediately after organization, morning session. Let every officer be present. The fifth degree will be conferred at 1:30 p. m. This may be the last opportunity for receiving the fifth degree prior to the meeting of the National Grange in Philadelphia, when doubtless many of our members will wish to avail themselves of the 6th degree. Let every Grange be well represented. Railroad connections convenient. Business of importance will be presented and literary exercises interspersed. By order of the Master.

JAS. C. GILLILAND, Sec.

—One morning last week it became necessary for Gen. James A. Beaver to make the best possible time for Philadelphia. So he started to take the early morning train via Lemont. For once, he was too late; and, although only 40 minutes schedule time elapsed before the train would be due at Centre Hall, Gen. Beaver determined to try to overtake it. We cannot describe his ride over the mountain, but, as all know, eight miles up and down hill is entirely too great a distance for 40 minutes ride, and the General arrived there too late. Nothing daunted, however, he retraced his course and departed from Bellefonte on the 9.32 train via. Lock Haven. We hope he reached the city in time to attend to his engagements.

—Mr. J. B. Solt, of Centre Hall, is making arrangements to erect a mill for the purpose of manufacturing the Heberling automatic slat fence, which in the language of the business world, is "destined to succeed all others." The fence produced is handsome, durable and strong and will outlast any other kind, while it is very cheap. One of the Heberling machines will make 300 rods of fence in a day of eight hours. The fence consists of wooden slabs firmly bound together by the strongest of steel wire. It must be seen to be appreciated. Mr. Solt has orders for the manufacture of several thousand rods of fence.

—We regret to chronicle the departure from our town of Miss Maggie Jackson, who left Thursday for Bellefonte where she expects to remain for an indefinite time with the family of Joe Furey, associate editor of the "Watchman." Miss Maggie is an exceedingly pleasant and agreeable young lady, and her absence from our society will be felt very sensitively.—Osceola Reveille.

—Some three weeks since the Diamond Drill Co. began boring on the property of the Houtz heirs, in Houtzdale, for the purpose of testing the coal. On Friday last they struck what they were after—a vein of coal. We have heard several rumors, says the Observer, in regard to the thickness of the vein, some placing it at 4 feet 10 inches; others at 6 feet.

—Mr. John Noll came home Saturday morning from Millheim and reports that the inclement weather of Friday night rendered it impossible to hold the Grand Army exercises announced. There is excellent material in Millheim of which to organize a post and another attempt, to be made on Monday, the 17th, will probably be more successful.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. Lincoln H. Musser, of Fillmore, spent Sunday with his friends in this place.

Mr. Fisher, of Indiana, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Aaron Williams, on Howard street.

Monte Ward will receive $2500 for this season's work with the New York League Club.

Mr. Chas. Pierce was in Clearfield last week, doing legal work in the office of Orvis & Snyder.

Mr. James McClain has made extensive improvements to his grounds in the way of putting down fresh sod.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chase came home from Philadelphia on Monday evening, after a brief wedding trip.

Mr. J. Wesley Parsons, of Punxsutawney, was called to Bellefonte on the sad mission of attending his brother's funeral.

Mrs. Dr. Daugherty, of Canton, Ohio, arrived on Friday and is visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Harris, on Howard street.

Miss Julia Valentine, daughter of Robert Valentine, is at home after an absence lasting through all the past Winter.

Mr. John Noll, commander of Gregg Post G.A.R., went to Coburn Friday afternoon to attend the exercises there that evening.

Prof. D. O. Etters, and wife of this place, will spend the Summer months with relatives in the vicinity of State College.

Dr. Charles Emerick, a promising young gentleman of Centre Hall, is now a full fledged doctor and will locate in Boalsburg for practice.

Miss Alma Reed, assistant principal in the High School during all the past Winter, departed on Monday to spend the vacation at her home near Clearfield.

Rev. W. F. D. Noble returned on Friday from Huntingdon county, to Stormstown, this county. He was called to Huntingdon county to attend the funeral of his mother.

Mr. J. D. Douglass, one of the editors of the Philipsburg Ledger, called on Friday afternoon. He is about as good-looking and bright as the paper which he prints and the time seemed quite short while he was with us.

Mr. J. J. Galbraith, a veteran newspaper man from Williamsport, Pa., is at present in town in the interest of the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin. He is a first-class gentleman any way you take him and the interests of any paper are safe in his care.

Dr. Joseph Brockerhoff is said to have received an excellent appointment in the Marine service. We congratulate the young M. D., and are free to hazard the prediction that he will distinguish himself and will reflect honor upon the town in which he was reared.

—A man named David Peters, who lives at Valentines Forge, was drunk Saturday afternoon. He created some disturbance near the depot about the time the train arrived. When Policeman Montgomery undertook to arrest him he resisted and was thrown down, falling in such a way as to severely injure or break one of his legs. He was taken to his home.

—Gen. Beaver was a guest on Friday at a testimonial dinner given to Edward C. Knight, one of the representative business men of Philadelphia. It was the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of Mr. Knight's business career. Two hundred guests were present.

—Mr. James Batty, of Spring Mills, is the possessor of an autograph album which is a novelty. It is shaped like a cactus plant and on its pages are found the names of many distinguished citizens of the county, including some from Bellefonte.

—The funeral of John DuBois, the millionaire lumber merchant, which took place at DuBois on Saturday, was attended by four thousand people. George A. Jenks had charge of the ceremonies. Business in the town was entirely suspended.

—Mr. H. G. Strohmier of the Centre Hall marble yard, is putting up some very fine work in the cemeteries near that place. The beauty of the lettering which he puts on the monuments and tombstones is especially admired.

—The Gingerich flouring mill at Oak Hall, which burned this morning, was a valuable property, valued, we understand, as high as $16,000. We have not learned whether there was any insurance on it.

—What is more beautiful than a horse-chestnut tree when covered with blossoms?

MARRIED.

VANADA—DORMAN.—At the home of the bride's parents, Nittany, Pa., May 9th, 1886, by Rev. John Brubaker, Mr. William C. Vanada, of Zion, and Miss Alice J. Dorman, of Nittany.
